Dear All,

IDENTITY CHECKING GUIDELINES - AN UPDATE

This letter is an update prior to you receiving final comprehensive guidance in the next few weeks.

By way of an update, the CRB has further reviewed this guidance in consultation with the Home Office and other Government departments; and has made some changes. These have been made to ensure that there are adequate options for all individuals who need to provide ID documents to access the CRB service, without compromising the Government's top priority of public protection.

The main bulk of the guidance remains unchanged; the changes that have been made are contained within the new three route process; the list of valid identity documents and checking a birth certificate. Therefore, I have included the full revised guidance with this email and this may also be downloaded by visiting the "Latest from the CRB" section on our homepage at www.homeoffice.gov.uk/crb . However, I will provide you with a further update on details regarding Route Two in the coming weeks.

Please circulate this information to those in your organisations involved in the CRB's ID checking process to make them aware of these changes. I would also encourage you to regularly visit the Home Office website for all the latest information.

Yours sincerely,

Steve Long
CRB Chief Executive
