While these seemingly comprehensive features are laudable additions, Master's self-administered questionnaire lacks key functionality. Specifically the questionnaire, which, otherwise shows good questionnaire development features, for example, logical sequencing and clear, efficient branching, is not available in the online data management and analysis environment.<sup>10</sup> For ease of use, users are for the 2000 questionnaire asked to enter pre-agreed codes for pre-specified demographic, cognitive, attitudinal, personality, behavioural and lifestyle, self-reported symptoms (e.g. for the 2000 version) and physical measures or risk factor related questions or clinical history and physical status at 2000. However, 2000—users are advised to enter codes.
