

AN INSPECTOR CALLS and OF MICE AND MEN: HOW DO I GET A GOOD GRADE IN MY EXAM?

It is clear that/ because/ therefore/ this reveals/ this implies/ this suggests/ it is suggested/ on the other hand/ One view is/ however/ although/ One quote which supports this view is where/ the effect on us as the audience/ this clearly shows/ the impact of this is / as a result/ One reading of this is/ In addition to this/ furthermore/ even though/ consequently/ finally/ in conclusion.

- Learn some of the connecting words and phrases in the box above.
- Quotes- don't worry if you can't quite remember every word- learn key words/ phrases for each character not huge chunks of text
- Interpret your quotations in detail- you can show the examiner you are interpreting by using words like "because", "therefore" and "consequently" when making your points.
- You MUST mention the writer in your essay- try to relate it to what you are saying.
- Always include the effect on the AUDIENCE when writing about a play or the READER when writing about a novel. Think about how the person receiving the text would feel when characters say/ do certain things.
- Explain your ideas in detail.
- You have a choice of two questions- which one should you choose? Pick the one that looks the hardest (this always seems to give you more opportunity to pick up marks as you are able to SHOW more.
- What are the "methods" that Priestley/ Steinbeck uses? "Methods" means- "What do his characters represent?" For example, what do his characters represent? (class system, hypocrisy, the Inspector in AIC and loneliness, the Great Depression, racism, disability etc in OFMAM) Think about what the writer is trying to teach us.
- When writing about characters try to include more than one interpretation/ set of ideas. Use "On the other hand" or "another possible interpretation of [name] is"
- Use words/ phrases "however", "it appears that". For example, you could discuss how you feel Sheila has learned her lesson and changed for the better by the end of the play but you could then also discuss the fact that she doesn't actually reject Gerald- she seems to imply "not yet" so has she really changed at all? Look at BOTH points of view. Argue both, then decide- this moves you up to a 'B'
- Think about alternative viewpoints on each of the main characters as part of your revision as you are not sure which character(s) your question will ask you to discuss.
- Don't forget that the characters are not real people but they have been CREATED to REPRESENT/ SHOW what the writer wants you to know/ see. Priestley's/ Steinbeck's characters have been created to teach us about life at the time they were written. For example An Inspector Calls teaches us about what the upper classes were/ were not like, and the treatment of the poor.
- Mention HOW and WHY Priestley/ Steinbeck has constructed his characters.
- For An Inspector Calls don't forget about the stage directions- they contain a wealth of information about the characters! For Of Mice and Men look at Steinbeck's use of DESCRIPTION.
- WRITE A LOT ABOUT A LITTLE- rip quotes to shreds- look at all angles in detail. It is better to use fewer quotes but produce RICH analysis taking different ideas into account.
