India-US Relations in the Age of Uncertainty B.M. Jain, 2016-04-20 In the initial phase of the Obama administration India's ruling class and strategic community formed a perception that the spirit of strategic partnership between the two countries might be diluted on account of China looming large in the priorities of this administration. Despite occasional hiccups in their relationship this perception was overshadowed by the administration's recognition of India's role as counterweight to China in the Asia Pacific region. This book addresses and re-evaluates the perceptions, policies and perspectives of public policy makers and bureaucratic elites in both India and the US in setting and articulating the tone, tenor and substance of the multi-faceted ties between the two countries. The scope of the book is not exclusively limited to the bilateral relationship in the critical areas such as the Indo-US nuclear deal, defence security and strategic partnership. Its concerns and ramifications are much wider in global and regional contexts covering security architecture in the Asia Pacific region, the interface between terrorism and weapons of mass destruction (WMDs), China as a factor in India-US relations and the fallout of the New Delhi-Washington partnership on South Asia.

Nanotechnology and Global Sustainability Donald Maclurcan, Natalia Radywyl, 2018-09-03 The rise of collaborative consumption, peer-to-peer systems and not-for-profit social enterprise heralds the emergence of a new era of human collectivity. Increasingly, this consolidation stems from an understanding that big-brother issues such as climate change are not the root causes of our present global predicament. There is a growing and collective view that issues such as these are actually symptoms of a much more vicious, seemingly insurmountable condition: our addiction to economic consumption and population growth in a world of finite resources. Nanotechnology and Global Sustainability uses nanotechnology the product of applied scientific knowledge to control and utilize matter at atomic and molecular scales as a lens through which to explore the interrelationship between innovation politics economy and sustainability This groundbreaking book addresses how stakeholders can actively reshape agendas to create positive and sustainable futures through this latest controversial cross sectoral technology It moves beyond issues of efficiency productivity and utility exploring the insights of 22 contributors from around the world whose work spans the disciplines of science and the humanities Their combined knowledge reinforced with various case studies introduces an exciting prospect how we can innovate without economic growth This new volume in the Perspectives in Nanotechnology series is edited by Dr Donald Maclurcan and Dr Natalia Radywyl Dr Maclurcan is a social innovator and Honorary Research Fellow with the Institute for Nanoscale Technology at the University of Technology Sydney Australia Dr Radywyl is a social researcher and Honorary Research Fellow in the School of Culture and Communication at the University of Melbourne Australia She is also an Adjunct Research Fellow in the Faculty of Life and Social Sciences at Swinburne University of Technology Melbourne This book is written for a wide audience and will be of particular interest to activists scholars policy makers scientists business professionals and others who seek an understanding of how we might justly transition to sustainable societies
