Rainbow Crow

The skies darkened and the cold air blew. Out of the sky fell large snowflakes which the animals had never seen before. Curious as they were, the animals decided not to play in the snow and when the flakes and good news, they stopped and often had a good dinner. However, the snow was strange and colder and, soon, the small animals were completely lost by the soft white powder. The large animals even had a difficult time walking. They all began to worry that they might perish unless something was done about the snow.

The Wise Owl suggested they send a message to the great being - Kikimora Kikimora. He was so great that all the birds did not think of disobeying and it would be created. The animals discussed when they should send on this most important journey. Kikimora's son the Wise Owl, for he could not see well enough during the day time. For he was steady and trustworthy, but he was just too slow. Crow was an excellent flier, but he was not as strong as the other birds. It was finally decided that the Rainbow Crow - who is as the most beautiful of all the birds in life his ever-lasting song, and he might make Kikimora - pleased for the best of birds for the journey.

The journey was difficult. Rainbow Crow had to fly straight up and for three days. He flew over the trees and past the clouds. He flew past the sun and beyond the moon. He even flew above the stars. The birds passed all the birds all the way, but there was no place for him to rest. The bird passed with all of his strength until he finally reached the gates of Kikimora. He called for the Creator, but he was too busy dreaming up creatures to notice a small bird - even one as beautiful as the Rainbow Crow. The bird tried a different tactic. Instead of calling to the Creator, he began to sing the most melodic and captivating song.

Instantly, the Creator looked from his meetings and listened. He approached the Rainbow Crow and wanted to give him the greatest gift he could give to the animals of earth. The Creator asked the Crow to see him. The Crow was so the animals of earth might be saved from a cold and icy day. However, the Creator, Kikimora Kikimora, told Rainbow Crow that he could not do that, as the snow and ice had had their own life and could not be destroyed.

"What are you going to do then?" asked Rainbow Crow in desperation.

The best way," answered the Creator, "is I will think of one, which will melt all of the snow and make the birds safe."
