FAIRY TALES

There once was a farmer who found some wheat seeds. He told his three children to plant them. One day, the wheat might be ready to eat. So, the farmer said to his children, "Who will help me plant these seeds?" But none of them did. So, the farmer said, "I will help you plant these seeds myself."

Then, a little while later, the farmer noticed that the seeds had grown. He said to his children, "Who will help me harvest the wheat?" But none of them did. So, the farmer said, "I will help you harvest the wheat myself."

Now that the wheat was ready to be ground into flour, the farmer said to his children, "Who will help me grind the wheat into flour?" But none of them did. So, the farmer said, "I will help you grind the wheat into flour myself."

Now that the flour was ready to be baked into bread, the farmer said to his children, "Who will help me bake the bread?" But none of them did. So, the farmer said, "I will help you bake the bread myself."

Soon, the smell of the delicious baking bread spread out and made it into a loaf, and put it in the oven, all by himself. The farmer said to his children, "Who will help me eat this bread?" But none of them did. So, the farmer said, "I will help you eat this bread myself."
