challenges encountered in all parts of the complex process of gradual development and application of digital surface models. This process covers data capture, data generation, storage, model creation, validation, manipulation, utilization, and visualization. Each stage requires suitable methods and involves issues that may substantially decrease the value of the model. Furthermore, the conference provides a platform to discuss the requirements, features, and research approaches for 3D modeling, continuous field modeling, and other geoscience applications. The conference covers the following topics: LIDAR for elevation data, Radar interferometry for elevation data, Surface model creation, Surface model statistics, Surface model storage including data formats, standardization, database, Feature extraction, Analysis of surface models, Surface models for hydrology, meteorology, climatology, Surface models for signal spreading, Surface models for geology, structural mining, Surface models for environmental science, Surface models for visibility studies, Surface models for urban geography, Surface models for human geography, Uncertainty of surface models and digital terrain analysis, Surface model visual enhancement and rendering.

Practical Channel Hydraulics, 2nd edition Donald W. Knight, Caroline Hazlewood, Rob Lamb, Paul G. Samuels, Koji Shiono, 2018-03-05. Practical Channel Hydraulics is a technical guide for estimating flood water levels in rivers using the innovative software known as the Conveyance and Afflux Estimation System (CES/AES). The stand-alone software is freely available at HR Wallingford's website www.riverconveyance.net. The conveyance engine has also been embedded within industry standard river modelling software such as InfoWorks RS and Flood Modeller Pro. This 2nd Edition has been greatly expanded through the addition of Chapters 6 & 8 which now supply the background to the Shiono and Knight Method (SKM) upon which the CES/AES is largely based. With the need to estimate river levels more accurately, computational methods are now frequently embedded in flood risk management procedures, as for example in ISO 18320: Determination of the stage-discharge relationship in which both the SKM and CES feature. The CES/AES incorporates five main components: A Roughness Adviser, A Conveyance Generator, an Uncertainty Estimator, a Backwater Module, and an Afflux Estimator. The SKM provides an alternative approach solving the governing equation analytically or numerically using Excel or with the short FORTRAN program provided. Special attention is paid to calculating the distributions of boundary shear stress distributions in channels of different shape and to appropriate formulations for resistance and drag forces including those on trees in floodplains. Worked examples are given for flows in a wide range of channel types, size, shape, cover, sinuosity, ranging from small scale laboratory flumes ($Q = 2.0 \text{ l/s}$) to European rivers ($2,000 \text{ m}^3/\text{s}$) and large scale world rivers ($23,000 \text{ m}^3/\text{s}$) a 10^7 range in discharge. Sites from rivers in the UK, France, China, New Zealand, and Ecuador are considered. Topics are introduced initially at a simplified level and get progressively more complex in later chapters. This book is intended for post graduate level students and practising engineers or hydrologists engaged in flood risk management as well as those who may simply just wish to learn more about modelling flows in rivers.
