

CUSTODIAN VS. JANITOR

DIFFERENCES OF THESE TWO METIERS

- A Custodian is a person who takes primary control and responsibility for the care and protection of the property of others. Examples of custodianship include: parents, guardians, teachers, and employers.
- A Janitor is a person who is responsible for the maintenance and cleanliness of a building or facility. Examples of janitorial work include: sweeping, mopping, dusting, and cleaning.

- A Custodian is responsible for ensuring a safe and secure environment for the people who are in their care. Examples of custodial duties include: locking doors, checking for hazards, and responding to emergencies.
- A Janitor is responsible for ensuring that a building or facility is clean and hygienic. Examples of janitorial duties include: cleaning restrooms, emptying trash, and disinfecting surfaces.

While both Custodian and Janitor are responsible for the care and protection of property, the Custodian is responsible for the overall safety and security of the property, while the Janitor is responsible for the cleanliness and maintenance of the property.
