An Irish-Speaking Island Nicholas M. Wolf, 2014-11-25 This groundbreaking book shatters historical stereotypes demonstrating that in the century before 1870 Ireland was not an anglicized kingdom and was capable of articulating modernity in the Irish language It gives a dynamic account of the complexity of Ireland in the nineteenth century developments in church and state and the adaptive bilingualism found across all regions social levels and religious persuasions

The Latvian Language in the Digital Age Georg Rehm, Hans Uszkoreit, 2012-08-30 This white paper is part of a series that promotes knowledge about language technology and its potential It addresses educators journalists politicians language communities and others The availability and use of language technology in Europe varies between languages Consequently the actions that are required to further support research and development of language technologies also differ for each language The required actions depend on many factors such as the complexity of a given language and the size of its community META NET a Network of Excellence funded by the European Commission has conducted an analysis of current language resources and technologies. This analysis focused on the 23 official European languages as well as other important national and regional languages in Europe. The results of this analysis suggest that there are many significant research gaps for each language. A more detailed expert analysis and assessment of the current situation will help maximise the impact of additional research and minimize any risks. META NET consists of 54 research centres from 33 countries that are working with stakeholders from commercial businesses, government agencies, industry, research organisations, software companies, technology providers and European universities. Together they are creating a common technology vision while developing a strategic research agenda that shows how language technology applications can address any research gaps by 2020. Learning to Read, Learning Religion

Britta Juska-Bacher, Matthew Grenby, Tuija Laine, Wendelin Sroka, 2023-01-06. Catechism primers are inconspicuous but telling little books for children combining the teaching of reading skills and religious catechesis. From the 16th to the 19th centuries they have been produced, disseminated and used in huge numbers in many regions of the world, in particular in Europe. Remarkably similar texts appeared across the continent, spanning confessional traditions that were in other respects highly divergent. In different places and across the whole period, different denominations used not only similar pedagogical and religious strategies but also shared the same formats and iconography. This volume, edited by scholars from Finland, Germany, Switzerland and the United Kingdom, is the result of a collaborative transnational and interdisciplinary effort including education, language teaching, children's literature, book history and religious studies. With contributions on seventeen European countries and regions, it sheds new light on a fascinating but largely neglected part of European cultural heritage and, by establishing a comprehensive and authoritative summary of the field, offers fresh impetus for further transnational research. Cultural Mediation in Language Learning and Teaching, Geneviève Zarate, Council of Europe, European Centre for Modern Languages, 2004-01-01. This project attempts to tackle several challenges to experience the variety of different teaching cultures as a source of innovation rather than as an obstacle to adopt a pluridisciplinary approach by introducing references taken from the social sciences in order to develop reflection on the role of languages in social cohesion, to try and provide answers to a question hitherto rarely raised in the didactics of languages and cultures: namely the place of cultural mediation itself. CoE website. PISA Learning Mathematics for Life: A Perspective from PISA

OECD, 2010-03-04. Learning Mathematics for Life examines the link between the PISA test requirements and student performance. It focuses specifically on the proportions of students who answer questions correctly across a range of difficulty. The questions are classified by content, competencies, context and format.
