through the different types of infographics explaining why they're so effective and when they're appropriate. Ninety percent of the information transmitted to your brain is visual, so it's important to tickle the optic nerves to get people excited about your data. Infographics do just that. Much more exciting than a spreadsheet, infographics can add humor, interest, and flash while imparting real information. Putting your data in graphic form makes it more likely to be shared via Twitter, Facebook, Pinterest, and other social media sites, and the visual interest makes it less likely to be ignored.

Infographics For Dummies provides a tried and true method for creating infographics that tell a story and get people excited. Topics include talking to clients about the data, discovering trends, outliers, and patterns; designing with mood boards and wireframes; launching and promoting your infographic. The book, written by Justin Beegel, MBA, founder of Infographic World, Inc., describes the elements of a successful infographic and stresses the must-have ingredients that get your data noticed. Humans are visual creatures telling stories in a visual way. In today's world filled with data and messaging, an infographic is one of the best ways to get your point across.

The Secret Power of Blogging by Bruce C. Brown, 2008. Blog is short for Weblog. A Weblog is a journal or type of newsletter that is updated often and intended for the general public. Blogs generally represent the personality of the author or the website owner. In a recent study by the Pew Internet American Life Project, it was estimated that the U.S. blog population has grown to about 12 million Americans, some 8% of U.S. Internet users. The number of U.S. blog readers was estimated at 57 million, 39% of the U.S. online population. If you have a product, service, brand, or cause that you want to market inexpensively online to the world, you need to look into starting a blog. It is an ideal marketing vehicle. You can use it to share your expertise, grow market share, spread your message, and establish yourself as an expert in your field for virtually no cost. A blog helps your site to rank higher in the search engines because Google and other search engines provide references to blogs and their content. Tiny one-person, part-time businesses and mega-companies like Microsoft, Apple, Nike, General Motors, Amazon.com, and Yahoo use blogs as well. Most Fortune 1000 firms are using responsible blog marketing as well as advertising on blogs for one simple reason: it works. It generates profits immediately and consistently. In addition, many blogs earn additional revenue by selling advertising space on their niche-targeted blog.
