Proceedings of the International Conference on Education Research Reza Hosseini, Self-directed learning research: An imperative for transforming the educational landscape Elsa Mentz, Thabisile Buthelezi, Josef de Beer, Adri

du Toit, Aubrey Golightly, Sarah Gravett, Marietjie Havenga, Anita Lubbe, Judah P. Makonye, Neal Petersen, Paulinah Phahamane, Jessica Pool, H.J. (Hennie) Steyn, Johannes (Hannes) L. van der Walt, Charl Wolhuter, 2016-12-31 This book will benefit specialists in the field of the education sciences. It represents significant progress in knowledge production. Self directed learning has become increasingly important not only for education in South Africa but also for education sciences in the international arena. This is a result of the changing education landscape caused by the demands of the 21st century as well as the rapid change in knowledge production. Learners should be equipped with skills to take responsibility for their own learning. New innovative strategies should be incorporated into teaching and learning in order to meet the changing demands in education. Traditional teacher centred practices are still the norm in most South African schools and higher education institutions and do not adequately prepare students for lifelong learning in the 21st century. The content focuses on the theory behind self directed learning, explores strategies such as cooperative learning, problem based learning, case based teaching and large group teaching that enhance self directed learning and the use of blended learning in a self directed learning environment. The book demonstrates how self directed learning can be enhanced in mathematics, computer science and life science education and through the use of student tutors for geography. Digital technology could for example also be used in innovative ways for education in isiZulu folk poetry. The findings are based on original empirical research and a sound theoretical conceptual framework. In an environment of rapidly changing knowledge production, this book responds to the challenge of how to equip learners with the necessary skills to take responsibility for their own learning. The book presents innovative teaching and learning strategies for meeting the changing demands in education. Group activities, the responsibilities of learners and the obstacles that hinder their learning are analysed and the way in which educators can support them is discussed. Educational values such as mutual trust are discussed and self directed assessment is explored. This is a timely collective work authored by experts who subscribe to the approach of self directed learning. Educators should discover new teaching and learning strategies and value the integration of self directed learning in the classroom. How

Workplace Behaviors Impact Mental Health: Does Diversity Matter? Vasiliki Eirini Chatzea, Dimitra

Sifaki-Pistolla, Enkeleint A. Mechili, 2025-05-14 The recent unprecedented societal challenges along with the COVID 19 pandemic have opened the door to a new era for mental health at work. Today more than ever provides an opportunity to highlight the mental health challenges that employees are facing due to their working conditions and occupational environments. Around the globe it is well documented that promoting and establishing mentally healthy workplaces is a focal point. However, according to the literature, individuals of diverse identities and backgrounds e.g. racial or ethnic minorities, LGBTQ community, migrants, refugees, the Roma community, religiously diverse individuals, people of lower economic social status, pregnant women etc. are presenting an increased risk of discrimination and stigma leading to major adverse effects on their mental health. Where mental health conditions can begin and worsen in the workplace due to occupational conditions.

and behaviors the impact of this continues outside of the workplace and can severely impact an individual's overall quality of life. This Research Topic aims to offer a holistic insight into the current state of mental health conditions disorders among employees of diverse or minority groups before during and post the COVID 19 pandemic. This collection not only aims to capture the extent of the mental health impact and report on common work related mental health disorders e.g. depression stress distress anxiety burnout low well being poor quality of life etc amongst these populations but to open the discussion towards addressing and tackling the inequalities and stigma associated with protected characteristics in workplace environments and to propose preventive measures interventions to enhance workplace resilience and ensure that mental health is upheld for all both in and outside of the workplace. In addition mapping out the current issues and needs by providing data and policy measures is crucial in meeting the United Nations 3.4 Universal Health Coverage goal regarding promoting populations mental health and well being.

Challenges and Issues facing the Education System in South Africa Wilfred Legotlo, 2014-05-05. The quality of education is pivotal for the production of human capital and this cannot be compromised by failing to refocus on the quality of education offered in schools. The inputs in the system such as trained and motivated teachers buildings and classrooms including sanitation clean water instructional material such as textbooks as well as strong leadership with vision to steer the winds of change are important in providing the desired outcomes. The chapters in this volume are broadly divided into three subsections as follows learner related issues farm and rural schools poverty and schooling school violence and students rights teacher related issues teacher morale and motivation teachers for all schools management needs of school principals and administrative policy related issues inclusive education and school community relations. The social demand for better schools
