sensitive and multi component nature Hans Hofmann Dawn V. Rogala,2016-08-01 The career of the German American painter and educator Hans Hofmann 1880 1966 describes the arc of artistic modernism from pre World War I Munich and Paris to mid twentieth century Greenwich Village His career also traces the transatlantic engagement of modern painting with the materials of its own making a relationship that is perhaps still not completely understood In these interrelated narratives Hofmann is a central protagonist providing a vital link between nineteenth and twentieth century art practice and between European and American modernism The remarkable vitality of his later work affords insight not only into the style but also the literal substance of this formative period of artistic and material innovation This richly illustrated book the fourth in the Getty Conservation Institute s Artist s Materials series presents a thorough examination of Hofmann s late career materials Initial chapters present an informative overview of Hofmann s life and work in Europe and America and discuss his crucial role in the development of Abstract Expressionism Subsequent chapters present a detailed analysis of Hofmann s materials and techniques and explore the relationship of the artist s mature palette to shifts in the style and aging characteristics of his paintings The book concludes with lessons for the conservation of modernist paintings generally and particularly those that incorporate both traditional and modern paint media This book will be of value to conservators art historians conservation scientists and general readers with an interest in modern art Chemicals and Methods for Conservation and Restoration Johannes Karl Fink,2017-06-15 Before the 1970s most information concerning the conservation and restoration of paintings wood and archaeological artefacts were focused on the history of the artefacts previous attempts of conservation and the future use of these artefacts The technical methods of how the restoration and conservation were made were dealt with only very briefly Today sophisticated methods of scientific analysis such as DNA are common place and this encourages conservators and scientists to work together to work out the development of new methods for analysis and conservation of artefacts This book focuses on the chemicals used for conservation and restoration of various artefacts in artwork and archaeology as well as special applications of these materials Also the methods used both methods for cleaning conservation and restoration as well as methods for the analysis of the state of the respective artefacts Topics include oil paintings paper conservation textiles and dyes for them archaeological wood fossils stones metals and metallic coins and glasses including church windows Clyfford Still Susan F. Lake,Barbara A. Ramsay,2022-04-05 This groundbreaking book provides the first detailed account of the materials and techniques of perhaps the most radical and until now least studied major American Abstract Expressionist Among the most radical of the great American Abstract Expressionist painters Clyfford Still has also long been among the least studied Still severed ties with the commercial art world in the early 1950s and his estate at the time of his death in 1980 comprised some 3 125 artworks including more than 800 paintings that were all but unknown to the art world Susan F Lake and Barbara A Ramsay were granted access to this collection by the estate and by the Clyfford Still Museum in Denver which houses this immense corpus today This volume based on the authors materials research and enriched by their unprecedented access to Still's artworks, paints, correspondence, studio records, and personal library provides the first detailed account of his materials, working methods, and techniques. Initial chapters provide an engaging and erudite overview of the artist's life. Subsequent chapters trace the development of his visionary style, offer in-depth materials analysis of selected works from each decade of his career, and suggest new approaches to the care and conservation of his paintings. There is also a series of technical appendices as well as a full bibliography.

Conserving Canvas Cynthia Schwarz, Ian McClure, Jim Coddington, 2023-10-24 The most authoritative publication in nearly fifty years on the subject of conserving paintings on canvas. In 2019, Yale University, with the support of the Getty Foundation, held an international conference where nearly four hundred attendees from more than twenty countries gathered to discuss a vital topic: how best to conserve paintings on canvas. It was the first major symposium on the subject since 1974, when wax resin and glue paste lining reigned as the predominant conservation techniques. Over the past fifty years, such methods, which were often destructive to artworks, have become less widely used in favor of more minimalist approaches to intervention. More recent decades have witnessed the reevaluation of traditional practices as well as focused research supporting significant new methodologies, procedures, and synthetic materials for the care and conservation of paintings on fabric supports. Conserving Canvas compiles the proceedings of the conference, presenting a wide array of papers and posters that provide important global perspectives on the history, current state, and future needs of the field. Featuring an expansive glossary of terms that will be an invaluable resource for conservators, this publication promises to become a standard reference for the international conservation community. The free online edition of this open access publication is available at getty.edu/publications/conserving_canvas. Also available are free PDF and EPUB downloads of the book.

Sam Francis Debra Burchett-Lere, Aneta Zebala, 2019 The next title in the respected Artist's Materials series offers groundbreaking analysis of Sam Francis's working methods and materials. American artist Sam Francis (1923-1994) brought vivid color and emotional intensity to Abstract Expressionism. He was described as the most sensuous and sensitive painter of his generation by former Guggenheim Museum director James Johnson Sweeney, and curator Howard Fox called him one of the acknowledged masters of late modern art. Francis's works, whether intimate or monumental in scale, make indelible impressions; the intention of the artist was to make them felt as much as seen. At the age of twenty, Francis was hospitalized for spinal tuberculosis and spent three years virtually immobilized in a body cast. For physical therapy, he was given a set of watercolors, and as he described it, he painted his way back to life. The exuberant color and expression in his paintings celebrated his survival. His five-decade career was an energetic visual and theoretical exploration that took him around the world. Francis's idiosyncratic painting practices have long been the subject of speculation and debate among conservators and art historians. Presented here for the first time in this volume are the results of an in-depth scientific study of more than forty paintings from the late 1940s to early 1990s, which reveal new discoveries about his creative process, inventive techniques, and specially formulated paints and binders The data provides a key to the complicated evolution of the artist's work and informs original art historical interpretations Nanotechnologies and Nanomaterials for Diagnostic, Conservation and Restoration of Cultural Heritage Giuseppe Lazzara, Rawil F. Fakhrullin, 2018-10-12 Nanotechnologies and Nanomaterials for Diagnostic Conservation and Restoration of Cultural Heritage explores how advanced nanoscale techniques can help preserve artworks The book covers lab scale available techniques as well as advanced methods from neutron sources and X ray spectroscopy Other sections highlight a variety of nanomaterials with potential uses in treatments for restoration and conservation with conservation consolidation and long term protection protocols analyzed in each case The final chapter presents case studies demonstrates how nanoscale techniques are used to conserve art and shows what happens when misinterpretation of data sources leads to misdiagnosis The book is intended for scientists from academic and professional conservators restorers who are involved in the conservation of artistic and historical artifacts and those who want to learn how nanotechnology can increase the efficiency of conservation and protection techniques Cogently explains how nanotechnology is used in the preservation protection and restoration of artworks Explores the best nanomaterials for a variety of situations Shows how nanomaterials can be used in restoration for cleaning and in conservation treatments Includes guidelines to prevent the misinterpretation of diagnostic data to help avoid misdiagnosis Xu Bing and Contemporary Chinese Art Hsingyuan Tsao, Roger T.

Ames, 2011-09-01 How Chinese is contemporary Chinese art Treasured by collectors critics and art world cognoscenti this art developed within an avant garde that looked West to find a language to strike out against government control Traditionally Chinese artistic expression has been related to the structure and function of the Chinese language and the assumptions of Chinese natural cosmology Is contemporary Chinese art rooted in these traditions or is it an example of cultural self colonization Contributors to this volume address this question going beyond the more obvious political and social commentaries on contemporary Chinese art to find resonances between contemporary artistic ideas and the indigenous sources of Chinese cultural self understanding Focusing in particular on the acclaimed artist Xu Bing this book looks at how he and his peers have navigated between two different cultural sites to establish a third place a place from which to appropriate Western ideas and use them to address centuries old Chinese cultural issues within a Chinese cultural discourse
