Just So Stories:

Just So Stories Rudyard Kipling, 1902 Twelve tales concerning the peculiarities of several jungle animals Just So Stories for Little Children Rudyard Kipling, 1908 Twelve animal stories Just So Stories (1912) by : Rudyard Kipling Rudyard Kipling, 2017-01-20 Just So Stories for Little Children is a 1902 collection of origin stories by the British author Rudyard Kipling. Considered a classic of children's literature, the book is among Kipling's best known works. Kipling began working on the book by telling the first three chapters as bedtime stories to his daughter Josephine. These had to be told just so exactly in the words she was used to or she would complain. The stories describe how one animal or another acquired its most distinctive features such as how the Leopard got his spots. For the book Kipling illustrated the stories himself. The stories have appeared in a variety of adaptations including a musical and animated films. Evolutionary biologists have noted that what Kipling did in fiction they have done in reality providing explanations for the evolutionary development of animal features. The stories first published in 1902 are origin stories, fantastic accounts of how various features of animals came to be. A forerunner of these stories is Kipling's How Fear Came in The Second Jungle Book 1895. In it Mowgli hears the story of how the tiger got his stripes. The Just So Stories each tell how a particular animal was modified from an original form to its current form by the acts of man or some magical being. For example, the Whale has a tiny throat because he swallowed a mariner who tied a raft inside to block the whale from swallowing other men. The Camel has a hump given to him by a djinn as punishment for the camel's refusing to work; the hump allows the camel to work longer between times of eating. The Leopard's spots were painted by an Ethiopian after the Ethiopian painted himself black. The Kangaroo gets its powerful hind legs, long tail, and hopping gait after being chased all day by a dingo sent by a minor god responding to the Kangaroo's request to be made different from all other animals. The Just So Stories began as bedtime stories told to his daughter Effie, Josephine Kipling's firstborn, when the first three were published in a children's magazine a year before her death. Kipling explained in the evening there were stories meant to put Effie to sleep and you were not allowed to alter those by one single little word. They had to be told just so or Effie would wake up and put back the missing sentence. So at last they came to be like charms, all three of them: the whale tale, the camel tale, and the rhinoceros. Just So Stories Rudyard Kipling, 2021-04-18 Just So Stories is a collection of short origin stories by the British author Rudyard Kipling. The stories evolved from a fatherly tradition in which Kipling invented bedtime fairy tales for his daughter Josephine. Kipling 1892-99 Josephine delighted in her father's storytelling style and demanded that each story be told just so. Kipling plays the role of the narrator throughout the collection, and Josephine is represented by Best Beloved, whom the narrator addresses throughout Just So Stories. The stories invent explanations for natural phenomena such as an elephant's long trunk or a leopard's spots. Each of these explanations is unscientific and almost all are incorrect, but they provide moral tales and humorous lessons for young children. Now over a century old, Just So Stories has drawn criticism from critics for Kipling's interpretations of race.

and colonialism Racial slurs and outdated beliefs are present in the stories Kipling illustrated the original edition of the book and included poems and captions to flesh out the stories Just So Stories Illustrated Edition Rudyard
