Handbook of Networks in Power Systems I Alexey Sorokin, Steffen Rebennack, Panos M. Pardalos, Niko A. Iliadis, Mario V. F. Pereira, 2012-03-01 Energy has been an inevitable component of human lives for decades. Recent rapid developments in the area require analyzing energy systems not as independent components but rather as connected interdependent networks. The Handbook of Networks in Power Systems includes the state of the art developments that occurred in the power systems networks in particular gas, electricity, liquid fuels, freight networks as well as their interactions. The book is separated into two volumes with three sections where one scientific paper or more are included to cover most important areas of networks in power systems. The first volume covers topics arising in electricity network in particular electricity markets, smart grid, network expansion as well as risk management. The second volume presents problems arising in gas networks such as scheduling and planning of natural gas systems, pricing as well as optimal location of gas supply units. In addition, the second volume covers the topics of interactions between energy networks. Each subject is identified following the activity on the domain and the recognition of each subject as an area of research. The scientific papers are authored by world specialists on the domain and present either state of the arts reviews or scientific developments. The CRC Handbook of Modern Telecommunications Patricia A. Evo-SETI Claudio Maccone, 2021-02-26 This book offers a vision of how evolutionary life processes can be modelled It presents a mathematical description that can be used not only for the full evolution of life on Earth from RNA to modern human societies but also the possible evolution of life on exoplanets thus leading to SETI the current Search for ExtraTerrestrial Intelligence The main premise underlying this mathematical theory is that the Geometric Brownian Motion GBM can be applied as a key stochastic process to model the evolution of life In the resulting Evo SETI Theory the life of any living thing a cell an animal a human a civilization of humans or even an ET civilization is represented by a $b \lognormal$ i e a lognormal probability density function starting at a precise instant b birth then increasing up to a peak time then decreasing to senility time and then continuing as a straight line down to the time of death Using this theory Claudio Maccone arrives at remarkable hypotheses on the development of life and civilizations the possibility of extraterrestrial life and when computers will take over the reins from us humans Singularity The book develops the mathematical Evo SETI Theory by integrating a set of articles that the author has published in various journals on Astrobiology and Astronautical Research

Foundations of Real-Time Computing: Scheduling and Resource Management André M. van Tilborg, Gary M. Koob, 2012-12-06 This volume contains a selection of papers that focus on the state of the art in real time scheduling and resource management Preliminary versions of these papers were presented at a workshop on the foundations of real time computing sponsored by the Office of Naval Research in October 1990 in Washington D C A companion volume by the title Foundations of Real Time Computing Formal Specifications and Methods complements this book by addressing many of the most advanced approaches currently being investigated in the arena of formal specification and verification of real time systems Together these two texts provide a comprehensive snapshot of current insights into the process of designing and building real time computing systems on a scientific basis Many of the papers in this book take care to define the notion of real time system precisely because it is often easy to misunderstand what is meant by that term Different communities of researchers variously use the term real time to refer to either very fast computing or immediate on line data acquisition or deadline driven computing This text is concerned with the very difficult problems of scheduling tasks and resource management in computer systems whose performance is inextricably fused with the achievement of deadlines Such systems have been enabled for a rapidly increasing set of diverse end uses by the unremitting advances in computing power per constant dollar cost and per constant unit volume of space End use applications of deadline driven real time computers span a spectrum that includes transportation systems robotics and manufacturing aerospace and defense industrial process control and telecommunications
