Pollinators and Pesticides Great Britain: Parliament: House of Commons: Environmental Audit Committee,2013-04-05 If farmers had to pollinate fruit and vegetables without the help of insects it would cost hundreds of millions of pounds and we would all be stung by rising food prices Defra Ministers however have refused to back EU efforts to protect pollinators Disease habitat loss and climate change can all affect insect populations but a growing body of research suggests that neonicotinoids are having an especially damaging impact on pollinators The weight of scientific evidence now warrants precautionary action so the Committee is calling for a moratorium on pesticides linked to bee decline to be introduced by 1 January next year An EU wide moratorium on the use of imidacloprid clothianidin and TMX on crops attractive to bees following a recent risk warning from the European Food Safety Authority has also been proposed Many of the UK s largest garden retailers have voluntarily withdrawn non professional plant protection products that contain neonicotinoids A full ban on the sale of neonicotinoids for public domestic use which could create an urban safe haven for pollinators is recommended The pesticide industry must open itself to greater academic scrutiny if it wants to justify its continued opposition to the precautionary protection of pollinators The Government s National Action Plan for the Sustainable Use of Pesticides published earlier this year was a missed opportunity according to the Committee Clearer targets are needed to reduce reliance on pesticides as far as possible And Integrated Pest Management which emphasises alternatives to pesticides but does not preclude their use should be made the central principle of the plan

Public Expenditure on Health and Care Services Great Britain: Parliament: House of Commons: Health Committee,2013-03-19 This report states that the values of the NHS will only be reflected in practice if NHS and social care services are re imagined The care provided by the health and social care system will break down if quicker progress is not made to develop more integrated health and social care services which focus on meeting the needs of individual patients It is unlikely that public expenditure on health and social care services will increase significantly in the foreseeable future This means that the only way to sustain or improve present service levels in the NHS will be to focus on a transformation of care through genuine and sustained service integration There must be a much more joined up approach to commissioning health and care services On other issues the Health Committee also concludes measures currently being used to respond to the Nicholson Challenge too often represent short term fixes rather than the sustainable long term service transformations changes in tariff payments within the NHS do not constitute efficiency savings they are simply internal transfers under spending against budget of money allocated to the NHS has attracted adverse comment and the MPs call for a general review of the operation of Treasury rules the NHS will not be able to rely on the present rate of paybill savings once the present restraints on public sector pay are relaxed in April 2013

Exploration of Halley's Comet Michael Grewing,Francoise Praderie,Rüdeger Reinhard,2012-12-06 The 1985 86 apparition of Halley s Comet turned out to be the most important apparition of a comet ever It provided a worldwide science community with a wealth of exciting new discoveries the most remarkable of which was undoubtedly the first image of a cometary nucleus Halley s Comet is the brightest periodic comet and the most famous of the 750 known comets With its 76 year period its recent appearance was truly a once in a lifetime observational opportunity The 1985 86 apparition was the thirtieth consecutive recorded apparition Five apparitions ago the English astronomer Edmond Halley discovered the periodicity of his comet and correctly predicted its return in 1758 a triumph for science best appreciated in the context of contemporary views or rather fears about comets at that time The increasingly rapid progress in technological development is very much apparent when one compares the dominant tools for cometary research during Halley's next three apparitions in 1835 studies were made based on drawings of the comet in 1910 photographic plates were used while in March 1986 an armada of six spacecraft from four space agencies approached the comet and carried out in situ measurements 1 AU from the Earth In 1910 nobody could have dreamed that this was possible and today it is equally difficult to anticipate what scientists will be able to achieve in 2061

Conservation and Development in Cambodia Sarah Milne, Sango Mahanty, 2015-02-11 Written by leading authorities from Australasia Europe and North America this book examines the dynamic conflicts and synergies between nature conservation and human development in contemporary Cambodia After suffering conflict and stagnation in the late twentieth century Cambodia has experienced an economic transformation in the last decade with growth averaging almost ten per cent per year partly through investment from China However this rush for development has been coupled with tremendous social and environmental change which although positive in some aspects has led to rising inequality and profound shifts in the condition ownership and management of natural resources High deforestation rates declining fish stocks biodiversity loss and alienation of indigenous and rural people from their land and traditional livelihoods are now matters of increasing local and international concern The book explores the social and political dimensions of these environmental changes in Cambodia and of efforts to intervene in and improve current trajectories for conservation and development It provides a compelling analysis of the connections between nature state and society pointing to the key role of grassroots and non state actors in shaping Cambodia's frontiers of change These insights will be of great interest to scholars of Southeast Asia and environment development issues in general

Creating a New Racial Order Jennifer L. Hochschild, Vesla M. Weaver, Traci R. Burch, 2012-02-26 A groundbreaking exploration of how race in America is being redefined The American racial order the beliefs institutions and practices that organize relationships among the nation's races and ethnicities is undergoing its greatest transformation since the 1960s Creating a New Racial Order takes a groundbreaking look at the reasons behind this dramatic change and considers how different groups of Americans are being affected Through revealing narrative and striking research the authors show that the personal and political choices of Americans will be critical to how and how much racial hierarchy is redefined in decades to come The authors outline the components that make up a racial order and examine the specific mechanisms influencing group dynamics in the United States immigration multiracialism genomic science and generational change Cumulatively these mechanisms increase heterogeneity within each racial or ethnic group and decrease the distance separating groups from each other The authors show that individuals are moving across group boundaries that genomic science is challenging the whole concept of race and that economic variation within groups is increasing Above all young adults understand and practice race differently from their elders their formative memories are 9 11 Hurricane Katrina and Obama s election not civil rights marches riots or the early stages of immigration Blockages could stymie or distort these changes however so the authors point to essential policy and political choices Portraying a vision not of a postracial America but of a different racial America Creating a New Racial Order examines how the structures of race and ethnicity are altering a nation Early social experience: Impact on early and later social-cognitive development Caroline Junge, Marlene Meyer, Sarah A.
