

Frog Dissection: Internal Anatomy

Classroom Instructions:

1. Place the frog in the dissecting pan ventral side up.
2. Pin each leg to the tray with pin at a 45-degree angle.
3. Use scissors to lift the abdominal muscles away from the body cavity. Cut along the midline of the body from the pectoral girdle to the perineal girdle.
4. Make transverse (horizontal) cuts near the arms and legs.
5. Lift the flaps of the body wall and pin back.
6. If your specimen is a female, the body may be filled with eggs and an enlarged ovary. You may need to remove these eggs to view the organs.
7. Locate each of the organs below. Check the box to indicate that you found the organs.

1. Fat Bodies—Spaghetti-shaped structures that have a bright orange or yellow color. If you have a particularly fat frog, these fat bodies may need to be removed to see the other structures. Usually they are located just on the inside of the abdominal wall. ☐
2. Peritoneum—A golden web-like membrane that covers many of the organs; you may have to carefully pick it off or dip it with your pointer to get a clear view. ☐
3. Liver—The largest structure of the body cavity. The brown-colored organ is composed of three parts, or lobes. The right lobe, the left anterior lobe, and the left posterior lobe. The liver is not primarily an organ of digestion; it secretes a digestive juice called bile. Bile is needed for the proper digestion of fats. ☐
4. Heart—At the top of the liver, the heart is a triangular structure. The left and right atria can be found at the top of the heart. A single ventricle located at the bottom of the heart. The large vessel extending out from the heart is the aorta arteriosus. ☐
5. Lungs—Locate the lungs by looking underneath and behind the heart and liver. They are two-spongy organs. ☐
6. Gall Bladder—Lift the lobes of the liver. There will be a small green sac under the liver. This is the gall bladder, which stores bile. (Think it kind of looks like a baggie!) ☐
7. Stomach—Coming from underneath the liver is the stomach. The stomach is the first major site of chemical digestion. Frogs swallow their meals whole. Follow the stomach to where it turns into the small intestine. The pyloric sphincter valve regulates the exit of digested food from the stomach to the small intestine. ☐
8. Small Intestine—Leading from the stomach. The first straight portion of the small intestine is called the duodenum; the coiled portion is the ileum. The ileum is held together by a membrane called the mesentery. Note the blood vessels running through the mesentery; they will carry absorbed nutrients away from the intestine. Absorption of digested nutrients occurs in the small intestine. ☐
