SECTION A – COMPREHENSION

Read the following passage and answer the questions that follow:

Teaching your children not to litter is a valuable life lesson.

I can no longer simply drive past children who drop their chip packets, cold drink cans and, sometimes entire fast-food packaging, as they walk home from school. Something inside me snaps and I tend to stop my car, interrogate them, and demand they pick up after themselves.

"Why did you throw that down in the street, when there's a rubbish bin a metre from where you dropped it?" I yell. The guilty 10-year-old glares at me as though I am insane or dangerous – perhaps I look it?

Curiously, it seems the whole idea of putting discarded wrappers into a bin designed for that purpose is a foreign concept to many of them. When pressed to answer my question, some of the responses have left me flabbergasted. "But I am creating jobs," said one indignant little litter-lout!

And it's not a stab in the dark to conclude that children like him are only doing what children everywhere do best: following the example set by their parents and caregivers in their lives. But attitudes like this are extremely dangerous. According to Alderman Clive Justus, Cape Town's Mayoral Committee Member for Utility Services, there seems to be a growing tolerance by the public, not only of litter, but of those responsible for it. What's more, this attitude is increasingly threatening the city's rating by international tourism organisations as one of the world's most beautiful cities and desirable holiday destinations, as residents continue to dump refuse illegally and indiscriminately fill our outdoor public spaces with litter.

"Children need to develop a sense of responsibility for themselves, others and the world in which they live in order to be contributing members of society," explains Johannesburg – based educational psychologist Melanie Hartgill.

Children Defending their Human Rights Under the CRC Communications Procedure Sonja C. Grover, 2014-11-03

This book considers the Optional Protocol to the Convention on the Rights of the Child on a communication procedure as a key contributor to the realization of children's Article 12 Convention on the Rights of the Child participation rights. Weaknesses in the current formulation of the CRC communication procedure its first iteration since entry into force 14 April 2014 are examined and suggestions for strengthening of the mechanism in various respects considered. Actual cases concerning children's fundamental human rights in various domains and brought under various international human rights mechanisms are considered as hypothetical OP3 CRC communications complaints. In addition, certain domestic cases brought to the highest State Court are considered as hypothetical OP3 CRC communications brought after exhaustion of domestic remedies. In this way, various significant weaknesses of the OP3 CRC are illustrated in a compelling meaningful case context and needed amendments highlighted. Intelligent Systems and Applications Kohei Arai, Supriya Kapoor, Rahul

Bhatia, 2018-11-08. Gathering the Proceedings of the 2018 Intelligent Systems Conference IntelliSys 2018. This book offers a remarkable collection of chapters covering a wide range of topics in intelligent systems and computing and their real world applications. The Conference attracted a total of 568 submissions from pioneering researchers, scientists, industrial engineers and students from all around the world. These submissions underwent a double blind peer review process after which 194 including 13 poster papers were selected to be included in these proceedings. As intelligent systems continue to replace and sometimes outperform human intelligence in decision making processes, they have made it possible to tackle many problems more effectively. This branching out of computational intelligence in several directions and the use of intelligent systems in everyday applications have created the need for such an international conference which serves as a venue for reporting on cutting edge innovations and developments. This book collects both theory and application based chapters on all aspects of artificial intelligence from classical to intelligent scope. Readers are sure to find the book both interesting and valuable as it presents state of the art intelligent methods and techniques for solving real world problems along with a vision of future research directions. Learning through assessment Anita Lubbe, 2021-12-31. This book aims to contribute to the discourse of learning through assessment within a self directed learning environment. It adds to the scholarship of assessment and self directed learning within a face to face and online learning environment. As part of the NWU Self Directed Learning Book Series, this book is devoted to scholarship in the field of self directed learning focusing on ongoing and envisaged assessment practices for self directed learning through which learning within the 21st century can take place. This book acknowledges and emphasises the role of assessment as a pedagogical tool to foster self directed learning during face to face and online learning situations. The way in which higher education conceptualises teaching, learning and assessment has been inevitably changed due to the COVID 19 pandemic and now more than ever we need learners to be self directed in their learning. Assessment plays a key role in learning and therefore we have to identify innovative ways in which learning can be assessed and which are likely to become the new norm even after the pandemic has been brought under control The goal of this book consisting of original research is to assist with the paradigm shift regarding the purpose of assessment as well as providing new ideas on assessment strategies methods and tools appropriate to foster self directed learning in all modes of delivery
