QUESTION ONE:

Read through the following extracts and answer the questions set on them.

1.1. EXTRACT A:

Rebellious subjects, enemies to peace,
Profaners of this neighbour-stained steel,—
Will they not hear? What, ho! you men, you beasts,
That quench the fire of your pernicious rage
With purple fountains issuing from your veins,

1.1.1. Identify the speaker (1)

The Prince

1.1.2. To whom is he or she speaking? (1)

1.2. EXTRACT B:

(Takes place inside Capulet's home)

And too soon marr'd are those so early made.
The earth hath swallow'd all my hopes but she,
She is the hopeful lady of my earth:
But woo her, gentle Paris, get her heart,
My will to her consent is but a part;
An she agree, within her scope of choice
Lies my consent and fair according voice.

1.2.1. Identify the speaker (1)

1.2.2. To whom is he or she speaking? (1)

1.2.3. Describe in your own words what is being said and why. (2)

Between Worlds Linda Chisholm, 2017-11-30 How the story of how missionary schools adopted the Bantu education reforms gives insight into the ongoing legacy of the apartheid in the South African educational system The transition from apartheid to the post apartheid era has highlighted questions about the past and the persistence of its influence in present day South Africa This is particularly so in education where the past continues to play a decisive role in relation to inequality Between Worlds German Missionaries and the Transition from Mission to Bantu Education in South Africa scrutinises the experience of a hitherto unexplored German mission society probing the complexities and paradoxes of social change in education It raises challenging questions about the nature of mission education legacies Linda Chisholm shows that the transition from mission to Bantu Education was far from seamless Instead past and present interpenetrated one another with resistance and compliance cohabiting in a complex new social order At the same time as missionaries complied with the new Bantu Education dictates they sought to secure a role for themselves in the face of demands of local communities for secular state controlled education When the latter was implemented in a perverted form from the mid 1950s one of its tools was textbooks in local languages developed by mission societies as part of a transnational project with African participation Introduced under the guise of expunging European control Bantu Education merely served to reinforce such control The response of local communities was an attempt to domesticate and master the foreign body of the mission so as to create access to a larger world This book focuses on the ensuing struggle fought on many fronts including medium of instruction and textbook content with concomitant sub texts relating to gender roles and sexuality South Africa s educational history is to this day informed by networks of people and ideas crossing geographic and racial boundaries The colonial legacy has inevitably involved cultural mixing and hybridisation with paradoxically parallel pleas for purity Chisholm explores how these ideas found expression in colliding and coalescing worlds one African the other European caught between mission and apartheid education

English Language as Hydra Vaughan Rapatahana, Pauline Bunce, 2012-06-22 English Language as Hydra argues that far too often the English language industry has become a swirling beguiling monster unashamedly intent on challenging local lingua diversity and threatening individual identities This book brings together the voices of linguists literary figures and teaching professionals in a wide ranging expos of this enormous Hydra in action on four continents

Birch, 2009-06-02 How can English language teachers contribute to peace locally and globally English language teachers and learners are located in the global civil society an international network of civil organizations and NGOs related to human rights the environment and sustainable peace English with its special role as an international language is a major tool for communication within this network On the local level many teachers are interested in promoting reconciliation and sustainable peace but often do not know how to do so This book provides information analysis and techniques to help teachers around the world take action toward this goal Balancing in a readable and accessible way the global and the local core and periphery cultural diffusion and resistance theory and practice pessimism and optimism outsider and insider perspectives the expert role and the apprentice role and prescriptive and elicitive methods it offers an alternative to literature about critical applied linguistics globalization and peace education that is simply too complex and wordy to spread easily from theoretician to the classroom teacher The English Teacher in Global Civil Society synthesizes threads from many fields and topics into a coherent and empowering argument for the activist role English language teachers can take to promote social change draws on humanistic education peace education cross cultural understanding problem posing cooperative learning and critical thinking methodologies to help English language teachers learn how to teach conflict resolution skills in their classrooms covers issues in critical applied linguistics approaches and methodologies in ESL EFL global and local curricular issues and specific skill areas such reading writing and speaking suggests a new goal for English language teachers global citizenship This engaging informative provocative and highly readable book is a welcome resource for English language teacher trainers pre service teachers practicing classroom teachers and Peace Corps workers around the world      AIDS, Intimacy and Care in Rural KwaZulu-Natal Patricia C. Henderson, 2011 This book describes how HIV AIDS became part of the lives of the people of the mountainous Okhahlamba in the South African province of KwaZulu Natal Based on extensive research in the area between 2003 and 2006 the author shows what impact the disease had and still does for adults and children and the different ways people tried to find answers to the devastating presence of HIV AIDS Henderson focuses on informal care by family members and volunteers at a time when anti retroviral drugs were not yet available She also shows what it meant to the community once the drugs became available      The Ambiguity of English as a Lingua Franca Stephanie Rudwick, 2021-08-29 Grounded in ethnography this monograph explores the ambiguity of English as a lingua franca by focusing on identity politics of language and race in contemporary South Africa The book adopts a multidisciplinary approach which highlights how ways of speaking English constructs identities in a multilingual context Focusing primarily on isiZulu and Afrikaans speakers it raises critical questions around power and ideology The study draws from literature on English as a lingua franca raciolinguistics and the cultural politics of English and dialogues between these fields It challenges long held concepts underpinning existing research from the global North by highlighting how they do not transfer and apply to identity politics of language in South Africa It sketches out how these struggles for belonging are reflected in marginalisation and empowerment and a vast range of local global and glocal identity trajectories Ultimately it offers a first lens through which global scholarship on English as a lingua franca can be decolonised in terms of disciplinary limitations geopolitical orientations and a focus on the politics of race that characterize the use of English as a lingua franca all over the world This book will be of interest to students and researchers in linguistic anthropology sociolinguistics World Englishes ELF and African studies
