The administration of examinations for 15-19 year olds in England Great Britain: Parliament: House of Commons: Education Committee,2012-07-03 This report from the Education Committee looks at the administration of examinations for 15 19 year olds in England The Committee expresses serious concerns about incentives in the exam system and about competition on syllabus content Incentives in the system should be changed so the downward pressure through the competition of exam boards is mitigated The Committee considers a number of options to change incentives including i A single board This offers a simpler system with no risk of competition but the Committee believes the cost risk and disruption outweigh the benefits ii Franchising of subjects to exam boards This removes syllabus competition but again has downsides 3 Or the current system of multiple boards The Committee sees no benefit in competition on syllabus content but the setting and marking of exams and associated administration if properly regulated could generate incentives and drive quality up offering value for money to schools and colleges The Committee also recommends the development of national syllabuses accredited by Ofqual The syllabuses would be developed by exam boards in conjunction with learned bodies and employer organisations and could therefore retain the benefits of competition on quality and the incentive for exam boards to innovate

The Preobrazhensky Papers Mikhail M. Gorinov,2014-03-10 Historians generally recognise E A Preobrazhensky as the most famous Soviet economist of the 1920s English language readers know him best as author of The New Economics and co author with N I Bukharin of The ABC of Communism The documents in this volume many newly discovered and almost all translated into English for the first time reveal a Preobrazhensky previously unknown whose interests ranged far beyond economics to include not only party debates and issues affecting the lives of workers and peasants but also philosophy world events and Russian history culture and politics Including moments of triumph and tragedy they tell an intimate story of political awakening and of commitment to socialist revolution as the path to human dignity      Intelligent Tutoring Systems Stefan Trausan-Matu, Kristy Boyer, Martha Crosby, Kitty Panourgia, 2014-05-24 This book constitutes the refereed proceedings of the 12th International Conference on Intelligent Tutoring Systems ITS 2014 held in Honolulu HI USA in June 2014 The 31 revised full papers 45 short papers and 27 posters presented were carefully viewed and selected from 177 submissions The specific theme of the ITS 2014 conference is Creating fertile soil for learning interactions Besides that the highly interdisciplinary ITS conferences bring together researchers in computer science learning sciences cognitive and educational psychology sociology cognitive science artificial intelligence machine learning and linguistics The papers are organized in topical sections on affect multimodality and metacognition collaborative learning data mining and student behavior dialogue and discourse generating hints scaffolds and questions game based learning and simulation graphical representations and learning student strategies and problem solving scaling ITS and assessment      World Congress on Medical Physics and Biomedical Engineering 2018 Lenka Lhotska, Lucie Sukupova, Igor Lacković, Geoffrey S. Department of Education, 1940      How We Teach Science John L. Rudolph, 2019-06-01 Despite an enduring belief that science should be taught there has been no enduring consensus about how or why This is especially true when it comes to teaching scientific process John Rudolph shows that how we think about and teach science will either sustain or thwart future innovation and determine how science is perceived by the public      Shaping the Bar Joan Howarth, 2022-12-13 The comprehensive source on attorney licensing and how to reform it In Shaping the Bar Joan Howarth describes how the twin gatekeepers of the legal profession law schools and licensers are failing the public Attorney licensing should be laser focused on readiness to practice law with the minimum competence of a new attorney According to Howarth requirements today are both too difficult and too easy Amid the crisis in unmet legal services record numbers of law school graduates disproportionately people of color are failing bar exams that are not meaningful tests of competence to practice At the same time after seven years of higher education hundreds of thousands of dollars of law school debt two months of cramming legal rules and success on a bar exam

a candidate can be licensed to practice law without ever having been in a law office or even seen a lawyer with a client Howarth makes the case that the licensing rituals familiar to generations of lawyers unfocused law degrees and obsolete bar exams are protecting members of the profession more than the public Beyond explaining the failures of the current system this book presents the latest research on competent lawyering and examples of better approaches This book presents the path forward by means of licensing changes to protect the public while building an inclusive diverse competent ethical profession Thoughtful and engaging Shaping the Bar is both an authoritative account of attorney licensing and a pragmatic handbook for overdue equitable reform of a powerful profession

The Schenley Experiment Jake Oresick, 2017-04-14 The Schenley Experiment is the story of Pittsburgh s first public high school a social incubator in a largely segregated city that was highly even improbably successful throughout its 156 year existence Established in 1855 as Central High School and reorganized in 1916 Schenley High School was a model of innovative public education and an ongoing experiment in diversity Its graduates include Andy Warhol actor Bill Nunn and jazz virtuoso Earl Hines and its prestigious academic program and pensions lured such teachers as future Pulitzer Prize winner Willa Cather The subject of investment as well as destructive neglect the school reflects the history of the city of Pittsburgh and provides a study in both the best and worst of urban public education practices there and across the Rust Belt

Integrated decades before Brown v Board of Education Schenley succumbed to default segregation during the white flight of the 1970s it rose again to prominence in the late 1980s when parents camped out in six day long lines to enroll their children in visionary superintendent Richard C Wallace s reinvigorated school Although the historic triangular building was a cornerstone of its North Oakland neighborhood and a showpiece for the city of Pittsburgh officials closed the school in 2008 citing over 50 million in necessary renovations a controversial event that captured national attention Schenley alumnus Jake Oresick tells this story through interviews historical documents and hundreds of first person accounts drawn from a community indelibly tied to the school A memorable important work of local and educational history his book is a case study of desegregation magnet education and the changing nature and legacies of America s oldest public schools 32nd

Bomb unveils the story of the events leading up to President Harry S Truman s 1950 decision to develop a super or hydrogen bomb That fateful decision and its immediate consequences are detailed in a diverse and complete account built on newly released archives and previously hidden contemporaneous interviews with more than sixty political military and scientific figures who were involved in the decision Ken Young and Warner R Schilling present the expectations hopes and fears of the key individuals who lobbied for and against developing the H bomb They portray the conflicts that arose over the H bomb as rooted in the distinct interests of the Atomic Energy Commission the Los Alamos laboratory the Pentagon and State Department the Congress and the White House But as they clearly show once Truman made his decision in 1950 resistance to the H bomb opportunistically shifted to new debates about the development of tactical nuclear weapons continental air defense and other aspects of nuclear weapons policy What Super Bomb reveals is that in many ways the H bomb struggle was a proxy battle over the morality and effectiveness of strategic bombardment and the role and doctrine of the US Strategic Air Command      Australian Education Index ,1980
