Grade 1setswana Paper 2:

Assessment of Reading in International Studies Jenny Lenkeit, Knut Schwippert, 2020-05-21 This book brings together contributions from different scholarly contexts that address a diverse range of focused topics as well as empirical and conceptual perspectives on research with international studies Some chapters focus on technical aspects exploring opportunities for drawing causal inferences from the data and investigating biases originating in distributional scale properties Others are of a more conceptual nature addressing changes in the relevance of socio economic indicators across time and countries examining the exposure of mother tongue and English instruction on performance and investigating the effects of test construction on gender difference The discussion takes a much needed meta perspective on the usefulness of international large scale assessments for educational research and allows reflection upon possibilities and opportunities for their improvement This book was originally published as a special issue of Assessment in Education

Resources in Education, 1994    African Books in Print, 1978    Polysemy in Cognitive Linguistics H. Cuyckens, Britta Zawada, 2001-01-01 In Cognitive Linguistics polysemy is regarded as a categorizing phenomenon i e related meanings of words form categories centering around a prototype and bearing family resemblance relations to one another Under this polysemy categorization view the scope of investigation has been gradually broadened from categories in the lexical and lexico grammatical domain to morphological syntactic and phonological categories The papers in this volume illustrate the importance of polysemy in describing these various categories A first set of papers analyzes the polysemy of such lexical categories as prepositions and scalar particles and looks at the import of polysemy in frame based dictionary definitions A second set shows that noun classes case and locative prefixes constitute meaningful and polysemous categories Three papers then pay attention to polysemy from a psychological perspective looking for psychological evidence of polysemy in lexical categories    Text Variability Measures in Corpus Design for Setswana Lexicography Thapelo J. Otlogetswe, 2011-01-18 This book is about the design of a Setswana corpus for lexicography While various corpora have been compiled and a variety of corpora based research has been attempted in African languages no effort has been made towards corpus design Additionally although extensive analysis of the Setswana language has been done by missionaries grammarians and linguists since the 1800s none of this research is in corpus design Most research has been largely on the grammatical study of the language The recent corpora research in African languages in general has been on the use of corpora for the compilation of dictionaries and little of it is in corpus design Pioneers of this kind of corpora research in African languages are Prinsloo and De Schryver 1999 De Schryver and Prinsloo 2000 and 2001 and Gouws and Prinsloo 2005 Because of a lack of research in corpora design particularly in African languages this book attempts to fill that gap especially for Setswana It is hoped that the finding of this study will inspire similar designs in other languages comparable to Setswana We explore corpus design by focusing on measuring a variety of text types for lexical richness at comparable token points The study explores the question of whether a corpus compiled for lexicography must comprise a variety of texts drawn from different text types or whether the quality of retrieved information for lexicographic purposes from a corpus comprising diverse text varieties could be equally extracted from a corpus with a single text type This study therefore determines whether linguistic variability is crucial in corpus design for lexicography

Ideophones Erhard Friedrich Karl Voeltz, Christa Kilian-Hatz, 2001-01-01 The present volume represents a selection of papers presented at the International Symposium on Ideophones held in January 1999 in St Augustin Germany They center around the following hypotheses Ideophones are universal and constitute a grammatical category in all languages of the world ideophones and similar words have a special dramaturgic function that differs from all other word classes they simulate an event an emotion a perception through language In addition to this unique function a good number of formal parallels can be observed The languages dealt with here display strikingly similar patterns of derivational processes involving ideophones An equally widespread common feature is the introduction of ideophones via a verbum dicendi or complementizer Another observation concerns the sound symbolic behavior of ideophones Thus the word formation of ideophones differs from other words in their tendency for iconicity and sound symbolism Finally it is made clear that ideophones are part of spoken language the language register where gestures are used rather than written language
