Department of Education, 2016. Twenty Years of Education Transformation in Gauteng 1994 to 2014 Felix Maringe, Martin Prew, 2015-05-05. Twenty Years of Education Transformation in Gauteng 1994 to 2014 An Independent Review presents a collection of 15 important essays on different aspects of education in Gauteng since the advent of democracy in 1994. These essays talk to what a provincial education department does and how and why it does these things, whether it be about policy resourcing or implementing projects. Each essay is written by one or more specialist in the relevant focus area. The book is written to be accessible to the general reader as well as being informative and an essential resource for the specialist reader. It sheds light on aspects of how a provincial department operates and why and with what consequences certain decisions have been made in education over the last 20 turbulent years, both nationally and provincially. There has been no attempt to fit the book's chapters into a particular ideological or educational paradigm and as a result, the reader will find differing views on various aspects of the Gauteng Department of Education's present and past. We leave the reader to decide to what extent the GDE has fulfilled its educational mandate over the last 20 years. Democratic Evaluation and Democracy Donna Podems, 2017-02-01. Democratic evaluation brings a way of thinking about evaluation's role in society and in particular its role in strengthening social justice. Set in South Africa, a newly formed democracy in Southern Africa, the book affords an in-depth journey that immerses a reader into the realities of evaluation and its relation to democracy. The book starts with the broader introductory chapters that set the scene for more detailed ones which bring thorough insights into national government, local government, and civil societies' experience of evaluation, democratic evaluation, and their understanding of how it contributes to strengthening democracy or not. A teaching case, the book concludes by providing guiding questions that encourage reflection, discussion, and learning that ultimately aims to inform practice and theory. Fostering Scientific Citizenship in an Uncertain World Graça S. Martian Gullies and their Earth Analogues S.J. Conway, J.L. Carrivick, P.A. Carling, T. de Haas, T.N.

Harrison, 2019-01-21 Gullies on Mars resemble terrestrial gullies involved in the transport of abundant material down steep slopes by liquid water However liquid water should not be stable at the Martian surface The articles in this volume present the two main opposing theories for Martian gully formation climate driven melting of surficial water ice deposits and seasonal dry ice sublimation The evidence presented ranges from remote sensing observations to experimental simulations to comparison with Earth analogues The opposing hypotheses imply either that Mars has been unusually wet in the last few million years or that it has remained a cold dry desert both with profound implications for understanding the water budget of Mars and its habitability The debate questions the limits of remote sensing data and how we interpret active processes on extra terrestrial planetary surfaces even beyond those on Mars as summarized by the review paper at the beginning of the book
