Playing for Power Marvin T. Chiles, 2025-06-15 Reveals the role of amateur Black football and basketball in Virginia before integration as a form of resistance to white supremacy In Playing for Power Marvin T Chiles offers a fascinating account of amateur sports in Jim Crow Virginia revealing how in addition to churches workspaces and civil rights organizations sports were also a key arena for Black resistance to white supremacy Drawing from a rich trove of primary sources Chiles recounts the development of Black football and basketball culture at the high school and college levels in Virginia from the 1890s to the early 1970s Looking beyond their role as leisure pastimes Chiles demonstrates how amateur sports strengthened education neutralized class divisions shaped Black masculinity mentored Black male leadership cultivated race pride and reflected Black desires for urban modernity Illuminating the ways Black athletes created a world that pushed for racial progress through objective meritocratic achievement anchored by masculine leadership and institutional success Playing for Power traces how amateur sports coalesced into a key cultural institution that fostered Black Virginians collective sense of community achievement and purpose during segregation cornerstones of later advances in the Civil Rights Movement Playing for Power also contributes to a larger understanding of sports history and how amateur sports became favorite American spectacles and markers of Southern identity Chiles s groundbreaking work will interest historians scholars and individuals interested in the intersection of sports and civil rights and the history of Black sports during the Jim Crow era The USC Trojans Football
