

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

I would like to express the deepest appreciation to my committee chair, Professor Godfrey-Sykes Irvine, who has the attitude and the substance of a genius: he continually and convincingly conveyed a spirit of adventure in regard to research and scholarship, and an excitement in regard to teaching. Without his guidance and persistent help this dissertation would not have been possible.

I would like to thank my committee members, Professor M. Chaphaga Tridactyla and Professor Marmaduke Orange, whose work demonstrated to me that concern for global affairs supported by an “engagement” in comparative literature and modern technology should always transcend academia and provide a quest for our times.

In addition, a thank you to Professor V. Milicic of Western University, who introduced me to Linguistics, and whose enthusiasm for the “underlying structures” had lasting effect. I thank the University of Chicago Press for permission to include copyrighted photographs as part of my thesis/dissertation. I also thank Springer Verlag for permission to include Chapter Five of my dissertation, which was originally published in Linguistics Journal. Financial support was provided by the University of California, Irvine, NSF Grant DEB-8227052 and a MacArthur predoctoral fellowship in International Peace and Security granted by the Social Science Research Council.

How To Write Thesis Acknowledgement:

Chinese PhD Thesis Acknowledgements Hua Peng, 2010 While there is a comparatively rich research literature on English acknowledgement texts research into Chinese PhD thesis acknowledgement texts especially the social roles of the texts has received little attention To fill this gap this book examines a corpus of Chinese PhD thesis acknowledgement texts in order to explore both the typical structure of the texts and their social function within the particular university setting as well as within a broader social context The author uses stratified purposive sampling and semi structured text based interviews with PhD graduates their supervisors and other acknowledgee representatives to gather data Furthermore PhD guidebooks supervisors CVs and graduates publications have been collected Three theoretical notions communities of practice audience and politeness are drawn into account for the findings of the study Besides uncovering several undocumented move patterns the book offers insightful understanding of acknowledgement texts both as a part genre of research writing as well as a window of the textual and social world of PhD graduates chorus of gratitude

Synthesizing Synchronous Systems by Static Scheduling in Space-Time Björn Lisper, 1989-05-10 The subject of this book is the synthesis of synchronous hardware The purpose is to provide a firm mathematical foundation for the so called space time mapping methods for hardware synthesis that have been proposed during the last few years Thus the treatment is fairly mathematical In a space time mapping method an algorithm is described as a set of atomic events with possible data dependencies between them The task is to find a mapping assigning a space time coordinate to each event so that causality is not violated and the solution is good Previous work in the area if it provided any formalism at all has relied mainly on uniform recurrence equations extensions thereof or on purely graph theoretic formulations In this project algebra is used instead and the close connection with single assignment languages is stressed Thus it is possible to generalize previous work and to give simple characterizations of the type of algorithms that can be implemented with space time mappings The results presented can be applied to hardware construction and compiler techniques for parallel computers

Writing for Earth Scientists

Stephen K. Donovan, 2017-05-08 The time has come You are an Earth scientist You've spent weeks months years working on this project now is the time to pull it together for publication You might be writing an undergraduate or graduate thesis a research paper for a leading journal a note for the newsletter of the local amateur scientific society a book review or an abstract for a specialist geological conference How do you make the transition from promising unpublished researcher to established academic author Of course the phrase academic publishing covers a multitude of sins monographs research papers book reviews conference abstracts or whatever each requires a different approach You have to decide what it is you are going to write and where to publish it There are co authors supervisors of your degree peer reviewers and editors to deal with on the way But the only way to write like an academic is to write like an academic where do you start You could do much worse than start here There are many books on how to write and be published aimed at research students and other aspiring academics Many of these are readable comprehensive and provide good advice This book is composed of numerous short chapters on this subject all directly relevant to one or more aspects of academic publishing and aimed particularly at the Earth scientists in the broadest sense Geologists will be encouraged to use the book as much as a reference as a reader dipping in to the chapters that contain relevant tips hints and comments to enable them to improve the paper that they are currently writing The book is intended to be informative readable and above all of practical application for all readers In summary the volume will be a readable compilation investigating many facets of academic publishing relevant to the Earth sciences It will be of particular interest to postgraduate students postdocs and new academics

Higham, 1998-01-01 This handy volume enlivened by anecdotes unusual paper titles and humorous quotations provides even more information on the issues you will face when writing a technical paper or talk from choosing the right journal in which to publish to handling your references Its overview of the entire publication process is invaluable for anyone hoping to publish in a technical journal ELT Christoph Haase, 2011-05-25 This volume represents an outgrowth of the 7th international ATECR conference which brought together researchers and educators from fields as diverse as language teaching in a variety of contexts corpus linguistics and literary studies The contributions in this volume show despite their diversity a strong common denominator an aim to bundle efforts and unify parameters in order to optimize English Language Teaching as a world wide endeavor Thus for our teaching it can only be beneficial when linguists talk to literary minded teachers or methodology specialists investigate whether their theoretical underpinnings make their way into practice by talking to language instructors or language service providers In general the authors present a multifaceted picture of the English Language Teaching context with themselves as practitioners but also as investigators and researchers at the same time The research that reflects back on their teaching thus creates a force feedback loop not only for the investigating scholar but also for the practicing instructor who reapplies his her knowledge after failed or suboptimal attempts as evidenced by the data

High-Precision Automotive Radar Target Simulation Diwald, Axel ,2023-08-15 Radar target simulators RTSs deceive a radar under test RuT by creating an artificial environment consisting of virtual radar targets In this work new techniques are presented that overcome the rasterization deficiency of current RTS systems and enable the generation of virtual targets at arbitrary high precision positions This allows for continuous movement of the targets and thus a more credible simulation environment

Kinship and Clientage Alison Cathcart,2006-05-01 This volume examines Highland society during the fifteenth and sixteenth centuries highlighting the extent to which kinship and clientage were organising principles within clanship Based on clans located in the central and eastern Highlands this study goes some way to addressing the imbalance in Highland historiography which hitherto has concentrated largely on the west Highlands and islands Focusing initially on internal clan structure the study broadens into an analysis of local politics within the context of regional and national affairs raising questions regarding the importance of land and the nature of lordship as well as emphasising the need for Highland history to be integrated further into broader studies of Scottish society during this period book develops a philosophical foundation to the field of management education using the work of Martin Heidegger as a guiding philosophy. It asks the questions: what is a corporation and what is corporate management? These two questions are foundational for management thought in general and management ethics in particular. Most other academic fields are in some way defined and guided by a philosophical discourse. This philosophical discourse is largely missing in the field of management thought and education. Without this foundation, it can never be clear what actually belongs into a certain academic discipline and what does not. It also therefore lacks a sound and well-articulated ontological foundation critical for developing approaches to ethical management. This book seeks to fill this gap and consequently represents an interdisciplinary effort between the academic field of management business administration and philosophy, which is vital for business ethics. Intended as required reading for an elective on philosophy of management that is offered annually at the Wits Business School, University of the Witwatersrand, Johannesburg. The structure of the course will be largely based on the structure of the book.

Hydropower Plants and Power Systems Weijia Yang, 2019-04-13. This book reports on a comprehensive study addressing the dynamic responses of hydropower plants under diverse conditions and disturbances and analyzes their stability and oscillations. Multiple models based on eight existing hydropower plants in Sweden and China were developed and used for simulations and theoretical analysis with various degrees of complexity and for different purposes and compared with on-site measurements for validations. The book offers important insights into the understanding of the hydraulic mechanical and electrical coupling mechanisms up to market conditions and incentives. It recommends control strategies for a more stable and efficient operation of hydropower plants.
