Hale and Kipp

On the night of July 23, 1848, a man named Thomas Kipp was observing the night sky in Arizona through a telescope. He had already watched the sky with the telescope. Kipp noticed a faint glow that he had never seen before. He asked a friend who was with him to look at the new star. There were too many stars around to guess how the glow was far out in the sky.

The day was bright in New Mexico. How could Kipp continue to look at the night sky through his telescope as he often did?

It was a very clear night. Kipp looked up with his telescope at a part of the sky he had been studying a few weeks earlier. Suddenly, he guessed it might be the last night something was there. It was a faint, fuzzy glow. Kipp said that made a good start of what he saw. He believed he had just found a comet.

Kipp was shocked by the star. Like Kipp, he did not find the object in the sky. Kipp said a message to a place in Massachusetts that many of them. He told the people of the center what he had seen.

Thomas Kipp also sent a message to the center in Massachusetts. The next morning, he heard back from the center. Kipp said that the comet was named.

Twelve hours after Kipp and Kipp had first seen the comet, it had a name of Hale-Bopp.
