Gabriele,2020-04-06 This book analyses and critically evaluates the development of two key components of China s economy the network of productive enterprises and the national innovation system from the inception of market oriented reforms to the present day The approach is a partly novel one albeit inspired to classical political economy rooted in the structure and evolution of social relations of production and exchange and of the institutional setting in these two crucial domains The main findings are twofold First the role of planning and public ownership far from withering has being upheld and qualitatively enhanced especially throughout the most recent stages of industrial reforms Second enterprises are increasingly participating along with universities and research centers in a concerted and historically unparalleled effort to dramatically upgrade China s capacity to engage in indigenous innovation As a result China s National Innovation System has been growing and strengthening at a pace much faster than that of the national economy as a whole The book also presents a speculative and provisional perspective on the validity and meaning of the claim that the country s socioeconomic system is indeed a form of socialism with Chinese characteristics It will be on interest to students and scholars researching China politics and development economics
