Research and Debate in Primary Geography Simon Catling, 2017-10-02 This book brings together recent papers which make important contributions to understanding and developing primary geography. It considers primary teachers and trainee teachers' knowledge of geography, how the primary curriculum uses geography, teachers' planning of geography teaching, the way in which aspects of geography are taught, what high quality geography might look like, and children's geographical understanding and voices. Though geography curricula change quite often in countries around the world, the core matters noted above remain of constant and vital importance. The papers in this book either concern research with primary teachers and children or consider key concerns in primary geography, providing important perspectives for thinking about future developments in geography teaching and curriculum initiatives in primary schools. This is a stimulating and enticing collection written by leading exponents of and experts in primary geography education. This book was originally published as a special issue of Education 3 13.

Job-Embedded Professional Development Sally J Zepeda, 2014-09-12 In today's schools, teachers are frequently called on to adapt new curricula and instructional practices in their classrooms. Making sense of the complexities of teaching occurs primarily during the work day and instead of relying on before or after school, one size fits all professional development activities, schools must support teachers in learning on the job. The latest book from renowned author Sally J Zepeda is written for teachers, teacher leaders, and school and district leaders who want to support job embedded learning, a powerful form of professional development characterized by active learning and reflection grounded in the context of a teacher's work environment. Job Embedded Professional Development provides a framework for helping teachers stop, take a deep breath, and learn along the way as they engage in their daily work. Through the engaging job embedded learning activities, processes, and cases from the field explored in this book, teachers will immediately be able to implement what they are learning in the context of their own classrooms. Work with supportive peers who can coach them along the way. Get feedback on what's working and what needs to be tweaked. Learn as adult learners, fully capable of making sound professional judgments. Engage in conversations that allow teachers to dig deeper into their practices. Focus intently on content knowledge and the linkages to instruction and assessment. Capitalize on learning in digital learning environments before, during, and after school. Gain confidence in themselves and others through learning together. 2012-2013 College Admissions Data Sourcebook Midwest Edition,

Geography of Time, Place, Movement and Networks, Volume 1 Stanley D. Brunn, 2024-05-23 This book describes the journey concept relating to cultural and social history of Western and non-Western worlds. By including time journeys negotiated by women, racial minorities, artists, and scholars from the humanities and social, natural, and physical scientists, the book explores time-space journeys in personal, professional, and cultural life and place experiences. The sixteen chapters in this book offer new insights into time-place worlds in different contexts, including history, culture, astronomy, and science fiction. The concept is one where science and art worlds intersect in the emerging worlds of the unknown With contributors from different disciplines and countries expanding our understanding of this concept this volume provides a valuable source for disciplinary and interdisciplinary classes and seminars exploring these scholarly frontiers

Planning and Design for Sustainable Urban Mobility Un-Habitat,2013-10-30 Urban transport systems worldwide are faced by a multitude of challenges Among the most visible of these are the traffic gridlocks experienced on city roads and highways all over the world The prescribed solution to transport problems in most cities has thus been to build more infrastructures for cars with a limited number of cities improving public transport systems in a sustainable manner However a number of challenges faced by urban transport systems such as greenhouse gas emissions noise and air pollution and road traffic accidents do not necessarily get solved by the construction of new infrastructure Planning and Design for Sustainable Urban Mobility argues that the development of sustainable urban transport systems requires a conceptual leap The purpose of transportation and mobility is to gain access to destinations activities services and goods Thus access is the ultimate objective of transportation As a result urban planning and design should focus on how to bring people and places together by creating cities that focus on accessibility rather than simply increasing the length of urban transport infrastructure or increasing the movement of people or goods Urban form and the functionality of the city are therefore a major focus of this report which highlights the importance of integrated land use and transport planning This new report of the United Nations Human Settlements Programme UN Habitat the world s leading authority on urban issues provides some thought provoking insights and policy recommendations on how to plan and design sustainable urban mobility systems The Global Report on Human Settlements is the most authoritative and up to date global assessment of human settlements conditions and trends Preceding issues of the report have addressed such topics as Cities in a Globalizing World The Challenge of Slums Financing Urban Shelter Enhancing Urban Safety and Security Planning Sustainable Cities and Cities and Climate Change

Innovation Beyond Technology Sébastien Lechevalier,2019-08-02 The major purpose of this book is to clarify the importance of non technological factors in innovation to cope with contemporary complex societal issues while critically reconsidering the relations between science technology innovation STI and society

For a few decades now innovation mainly derived from technological advancement has been considered a driving force of economic and societal development and prosperity With that in mind the following questions are dealt with in this book What are the non technological sources of innovation What can the progress of STI bring to humankind What roles will society be expected to play in the new model of innovation The authors argue that the majority of so called technological innovations are actually socio technical innovations requiring huge resources for financing activities adapting regulations designing adequate policy frames and shaping new uses and new users while having the appropriate interaction with society This book gathers multi and trans disciplinary approaches in innovation that go beyond technology and take into account the inter relations with social and human phenomena Illustrated by carefully chosen examples and based on broad and well informed analyses it is highly recommended to readers who seek an in depth and up to date integrated overview of innovation in its non technological dimensions School Laws of the State of Wyoming in Force April 1, 1913 Wyoming,1913

Climate Change Education Chang Chew Hung,2022-12-30 Climate change is complex and there is a need to educate our future generations so that they are able to deal with the plethora of information and views that they come into contact with in their lives This book inquires into what it means to teach and learn about climate change Now in its second edition Chang further explores what education for climate change entails discussing the concept of climate change education CCE itself how it is taught in schools and how public education is being carried out Featuring updated literature in a quickly advancing field the book defines CCE for the global citizen and looks at pedagogies supporting CCE It also identifies teachers as key stakeholders in climate change discourse how to improve teacher readiness on the topic and how teacher professional development can support successful implementation of CCE This book will be invaluable to climate change educators and can act as a reference resource for teachers education policymakers and public education agencies Neoliberalizing Spaces in the Philippines Arnisson Andre Ortega,2016-09-09 Amidst the recent global financial crisis and housing busts in various countries the Philippines booming housing industry has been heralded as Southeast Asia s hottest real estate hub and the saving grace of a supposedly resilient Philippine economy This growth has been fueled by demand from balikbayan returnee Overseas Filipinos and has facilitated the rise of gated suburban communities in Manila s sprawling peri urban fringe But as the Filipino dreams of successful balikbayans are built inside these new gated residential developments the lives of marginalized populations living in these spaces have been upended and thrown into turmoil as they face threats of expulsion Based on almost four years of research this book examines the tumultuous geographies of neoliberalization that link suburbanization transnational mobilities and accumulation by dispossession Through an accounting of real estate and new suburban landscapes it tells of a Filipino transnationalism that engenders a market based and privatized suburban political economy that reworks socio spatial relations and class dynamics In presenting the literal and discursive transformations of spaces in Manila s peri urban fringe the book details life inside new gated suburban communities and discusses the everyday geographies of privileged new property owners mainly comprised of balikbayan families and exposes the contradictions of gated suburban life from resistance to Home Owner Association rules to alienating feelings of loss. It also reveals the darker side of the property boom by mapping the volatile spaces of the Philippines surplus populations comprised of the landless farmers, informal settler residents and indigenous peoples. To make way for gated communities and other profitable developments in the peri urban region, marginalized residents are systematically dispossessed and displaced while concomitantly offered relocation to isolated socialized housing projects, the last frontier for real estate accumulation. These compelling accounts illustrate how the territorial embeddedness of neoliberalization in the Philippines entails the consolidation of capital by political economic elites and privatization of residential space for an idealized transnational property clientele. More than ever as the Philippines is being reshaped by diaspora and accumulation by dispossession, the contemporary moment is a critical time to reflect on what it truly means to be a nation.

Handbook of Geography

Education Sarah Witham Bednarz, Jerry T. Mitchell, 2025-01-27 This handbook presents a broad and comprehensive overview of research and practices in geography education at primary and secondary levels from birth to about age 18. It summarizes the current state of knowledge in this sub discipline of geography. Including authors representative of many geography education traditions, the book pays equal attention to learning and teaching and to respect student voices and includes rich in case studies, evidence based research and specific examples. It also emphasizes ways that geography education can contribute to global concerns about social justice, diversity, equity and inclusion as well as ways it can help to prepare the next generation of informed, critical and reflective members of societies. The book is divided into five sections: Purposes of geography education, Why is it taught, Perspectives on geography education, What is taught, Practices of geography education, How is it organized and taught, Preparation of geography educators, How are geography educators prepared, Possibilities for geography education, What is the future of geography education. By providing broad perspectives and lively and accessible writing, this handbook is a useful tool for novice geography educators, teacher educators, educational policy makers, support staff such as librarians and media resource specialists, curriculum developers and assessment experts in many world regions.

Challenging Perceptions of Africa in Schools

Barbara O'Toole, Ebun Joseph, David Nyaluke, 2019-12-23 This book challenges educational discourse in relation to teaching about Africa at all levels of the education system in the Global North with a specific case study focusing on the Republic of Ireland. The book provides an interrogation of the proliferation of negative imagery of and messages about African people and African countries and the impact of this on the attitudes and perceptions of children and young people. It explores how predominantly negative stereotyping can be challenged in classrooms through an educational approach grounded in principles of solidarity, interdependence and social justice. The book focuses on the premise that existing educational narratives about the African continent and African people are rooted in a preponderance of racialised perceptions, an impoverished continent dependent on the benevolence of the North The cycle of negativity engendered as a result of such portrayals cannot be broken until educators engage with these matters and bring critical and inquiry based pedagogies into classrooms Insights into three key pedagogical areas are provided active unlearning translating critical thinking into meaningful action and developing a race consciousness This book will appeal to academics researchers and post graduate students in the fields of education and teacher education It will be of interest to those involved in youth work as well as intercultural and global citizenship youth trainers The Open Access version of this book available at <http://www.taylorfrancis.com> has been made available under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives CC BY NC ND 4.0 license

Food and Media Jonatan Leer, Karen Klitgaard Povlsen, 2016-06-17 Food is everywhere in contemporary mediascapes as witnessed by the increase in cookbooks food magazines television cookery shows online blogs recipes news items and social media posts about food This mediatization of food means that the media often interplays between food consumption and everyday practices between private and political matters and between individuals groups and societies This volume argues that contemporary food studies need to pay more attention to the significance of media in relation to how we do food Understanding food media is particularly central to the diverse contemporary social and cultural practices of food where media use plays an increasingly important but also differentiated and differentiating role in both large scale decisions and most people's everyday practices The contributions in this book offer critical studies of food media discourses and of media users interpretations negotiations and uses that construct places and spaces as well as possible identities and everyday practices of sameness or otherness that might form new or renew old food politics
