Evolution Education Around the Globe Hasan Deniz, Lisa A. Borgerding, 2018-06-21 This edited book provides a global view on evolution education. It describes the state of evolution education in different countries that are representative of geographical regions around the globe such as Eastern Europe, Western Europe, North Africa, South Africa, North America, South America, Middle East, Far East, South East Asia, Australia, and New Zealand. Studies in evolution education literature can be divided into three main categories: a) understanding the interrelationships among cognitive, affective, epistemological, and religious factors that are related to people's views about evolution; b) designing/implementing/evaluating evolution education curriculum that reflects contemporary evolution understanding; and c) reducing antievolutionary attitudes. This volume systematically summarizes the evolution education literature across these three categories for each country or geographical region. The individual chapters thus include common elements that facilitate a cross-cultural meta-analysis. Written for a primarily academic audience, this book provides a much-needed common background for future evolution education research across the globe.

Women in Behavior Science Ruth Anne Rehfeldt, Traci M. Cihon, Erin B. Rasmussen, 2023-04-28 Women in Behavior Science is a unique text that showcases the perspectives, stories, and lessons of notable female behavior scientists at all stages of their careers with relevance for the field's many women pursuing careers in academia today. With the insights of esteemed female behavior scientists from diverse backgrounds, the book brings together their challenges and successes to include their own distinct perspectives on their professional and personal development. The book includes three sections that span the different phases of the academic lifespan: from graduate school to retirement and post-retirement. Each section covers a wide range of topics such as expanding one's work in new and diverse areas, deciding when and how to make transitions, making something out of nothing or very little, navigating relationships with family, children, and life partners both inside and outside of academia, values-based living, how to thrive in competitive environments, and building values-consistent repertoires in settings that may be gender-marginalizing. Presenting a behind-the-scenes view of academia, the authors also provide open and vulnerable narratives about their psychological and socio-cultural experiences, their stories of marginalization, their difficulties with mental and physical health challenges, grief and loss, and caring for others with chronic health conditions. Reframing the cultural-level recognition of female behavior scientists today, this book is essential reading for graduate and postgraduate students of Behavioral Science, especially for those focusing on diversity and cultural issues. It is also a must-read for professionals interested in understanding the experiences of diverse groups in this field.

Life in Schools and Classrooms Rupert Maclean, 2017-05-04 This book discusses key aspects of life in schools and classrooms and surveys the changes that have occurred over the years in educational research, policy-making, and practice in these school and classroom settings. It not only examines cutting-edge research in these areas but also showcases good practices in the field. Among the topics reviewed are recent developments in assessment methods for collecting and analysing data on classroom practice, school leadership, and the pros and cons of class size and small class teaching topics which are currently hotly debated in education systems around the globe. As such, the book objectively examines the various debates and surveys the full range of evidence available. Education researchers, policy makers, and practitioners often hold differing views about the reasons for teacher and student behaviour in classrooms and, for example, its relevance to class size. Many of these views are based on gut feelings rather than hard evidence. Unfortunately, these three groups with differing perspectives often talk past each other rather than engage in a productive, mutually beneficial dialogue. The book builds an effective bridge between researchers, policy makers, and practitioners regarding the impact of these various aspects of classroom life so that the viewpoints of each can be carefully considered and evaluated.
