Breaking Away From Broken Windows Ralph Taylor, 2018-03-08 In Breaking Away from Broken Windows Ralph Taylor uses data on recent Baltimore crime reduction efforts to attack the broken windows thesis that is the currently fashionable notion that by reducing or eliminating superficial signs of disorder dilapidated buildings graffiti incivil behavior by teenagers etc urban police departments can make significant and lasting reductions in crime Taylor argues that such measures while useful are only a partial solution to the problem at hand His data supports a materialist view changes in levels of physical decay superficial social disorder and racial composition do not lead to higher crime while economic decline does He contends that the Baltimore example shows that in order to make real long term reductions in crime urban politicians businesses and community leaders must work together to improve the economic fortunes of those living in high crime areas
