

Reflection On Personal Identity

The dictionary definition of identity is the characteristics determining who or what a person or thing is. My personal definition of identity is similar but I believe it is characteristics that separate each person from each person. My identity is affected by many things such as my family, religion, cultural heritage, friends and the experiences I have lived through. These factors weigh differently for each person but for me, I think my friends and family are the most important factor. Your parents and siblings affect you the most because you spend almost every single day with them.

My parents have taught me all the basics. If you want to see the real me, put me in the midst of my family. In their midst I become happier, crazier, calmer, and an overall better person. I know that I'm a better person when I'm with them because they allow me to be my true self and I don't have to be afraid that I won't be liked. They are the ones who ensure I reach my goal because there is a sibling I need to compete with. It keeps my mind clear of distractions and constantly remind me of how important my future. A similar group of people who do this for me are my friends. They affect almost everything of what I do. For me behavior they influence me with what I do, what I enjoy, where I go and my interests. They have made my interests a lot to do with games and computers. This has led me to take information technologies in the college and I have applied for computer sciences.

They also affect my behavior because of all the time we spend together we start to copy each other and also challenge each other to see who can be the best at the goals we have that are similar. One of the factors that do not affect me is religion, although it does affect my parents, other people, and the Entrepreneurial Identity and Identity Work Claire M. Leitch,Richard Harrison,2019-05-17 Identities can potentially serve as powerful elements that both drive and are shaped by entrepreneurial actions Entrepreneurial identity is a complex construct with multidisciplinary roots and therefore there is scope to more fully enrich our theoretical understanding of identity and identity formation at both individual and organizational levels and their relationship to entrepreneurial processes practices and activities This book highlights two key features of contemporary research on entrepreneurial identity First to see it as a dynamic rather than a relatively fixed and unchanging feature shaped by different life episodes It is increasingly fluid multilevel and multidimensional comprising multiple subidentities rather than a univocal and unchanging self As such it has a profound effect not only on the way we feel think and behave but also on what we aim to achieve Accordingly it is vital that its dynamics are better understood particularly in determining how actors behave in an entrepreneurial context The book s second focus is on identity work as the process through which entrepreneurial identities are formed and shaped and the contributors demonstrate how the dynamics of identity formation relate to entrepreneurial outcomes in a range of individual and organizational contexts This book was originally published as a special issue of Entrepreneurship Regional Development
