How to write a Book Review

Mukhtiar Baig, Shaukat Ali Jawaaid

Books are considered “tools for communication between two minds.” A well written and comprehensive review can let you know whether that book worked as a communication tool between the author and reader or not.<sup>1</sup> The scholarly book review is a kind of academic writing that helps to explain and critically appraise the subject matter, value, sense, and importance of a book.<sup>2,3</sup> Usually, book reviewing is an unpaid job, and it is considered as a service to the profession.<sup>4</sup> Therefore, it is necessary that reviewer should be willing to contribute in the field and should have the knowledge of the subject.

A review is the personal reflection of the reviewer’s opinion about the book, in which he/she communicates to the readers; such as was the book good and worth reading? Was it thought-provoking and informative? To whom (audience) it is recommended?<sup>4</sup> There is some difference between reviewing fiction and non-fiction books. In this article, our focus is reviewing a non-fiction book.

There is no hard and fast rule regarding the length of the review. However, a review comprising of 500-1000 words is good enough. It provides sufficient space to a reviewer for presenting his/her ideas or comments with considerable supportive examples and arguments.<sup>1</sup> Mostly, journals have a word limit for writing a book review. However, the worth of a review rarely have connection with its length.<sup>5</sup>

There are two approaches to book reviewing such as descriptive and critical.<sup>4,6</sup>
