

Autobiographical Essay

My name is Jeremy Maggi. I am a teacher at Orange Glen High School in Escondido, California. I am writing an autobiographical essay, a story about an event in my life and how it changed me. I am writing about a scary meeting I had with a rattlesnake when I was younger to show what I learned and to tell how this event was important to me.

It all happened one summer day in 1995 when I was ten years old. At that time, I was living in Valley Center, California with my parents and my brother. Our house was out in the country and there were many wild plants and animals, and I loved to go on walks with my father through the wilderness. On that day, my father, my younger brother, and I were taking a walk in the bushes outside my house. I wanted to lead, so I walked in front, my brother followed me, and my father was in the back. It was a beautiful day when we started walking; the deep blue sky was above us, the sun shined on us from over our heads, and all around you could hear the buzz of insects and the rustle of the wind on the leaves of the beautiful green bushes. I could smell the lovely smell of the summer flowers all around me.

Suddenly, and without warning, my father rushed to the front and pushed me aside. "Hey! What the heck!" I thought. But, just then, I heard a terrible buzz from where I had just been about to step. I looked and I saw a giant, red diamond-back rattlesnake in the path where I had been walking! His rattle was shaking and he was very angry. I could see his tongue flick in and out of his mouth. His narrow eyes looked at me. I felt my heart pounding in my chest. The cold wind blew on my sweating skin. Now I knew why my dad had pushed me.

We sat there for a while because we didn't want the snake to strike and attack us, and the snake stayed there, too, because he was afraid of us also. We called to our neighbor, Ken, who happened to be out, and he came with a shovel to kill the snake. Clang! With one hit he cut off the snake's head. Ken grabbed the snake by the tail and carried it back home, its blood still dripping on the ground.

Contemporary Second- and Third-Person Autobiographical Writing Christina Schönberger-Stepien, 2023-03-31 This book explores 21st century uses of the second and third person perspective in Anglophone autobiographical narratives by canonical male writers Through detailed readings of contemporary autobiographical works by Paul Auster Julian Barnes J M Coetzee and Salman Rushdie the study demonstrates the multiple aesthetic rhetorical and un ethical implications of the choice of narrative perspective as well as the uncommon step of articulating the self from a perspective which is not I Drawing on rhetorical narratology and autobiography theory the book engages with questions and tensions of subjectivity and relationality the interplay of distance and proximity resulting from the narrative perspective and its effects on the relationship between autobiographer text and reader In addition the book traces relevant guiding principles that the authors use to navigate their self narratives in relation to others such as questions of embodiment visibility grief ethics and politics Situating the narratives in their socio political and cultural context the book uncovers to what extent these autobiographical narratives reflect the authors position between self withdrawal and self promotion as well as their response to questions of male agency self stylisation and celebrity status

Women Taking Risks in Contemporary Autobiographical Narratives Kenneth Reeds, Anna Rocca, 2013-10-03 Women Taking Risks in Contemporary Autobiographical Narratives explores the nature and effects of risk in self narrative representations of life events and is an early step towards confronting the dearth of analysis on this subject The collection focuses on risk taking as one of women s articulations of authorial agency displayed in literary testimonial photographic travel and film documentary forms of autobiographical expression in French Among many themes the book fosters discussion on matters of courage strength resilience freedom self fulfillment political engagement compassion faith and the envisioning of unconventional alliances that follow a woman s stepping out of her comfort zone The fourteen essays included in this collection discuss works of women authors from North Africa Sub Saharan Africa France and the Caribbean They exemplify a variety of self narratives that blur unified conceptualizations of both identity and national belonging They address questions about women writers attitudes towards risk and their willingness to change the status quo They also explore the many personal and public forms in which agency manifests through risk taking engagements the ways in which women challenge the conventional wisdom about feminine reserve and aversion to danger the multiplicity of seen and unforeseen consequences of risk taking the all too frequent lack of recognition of female courage the overcoming of obstacles by taking risks and frequently the amelioration of women s lives Addressing both the broader context of the study of risk and the more specific areas of female expression and autobiography in Francophone cultures this collection is attractive to a diverse audience with the potential to cross disciplines and inform a wide body of research A number of the essays deal with issues born in postcolonial circumstances This examination of the elucidation of marginalized voices should prove enlightening to an array of scholars researching specific ethnic sexual gender and general subjects related to identity In making inroads towards expanding the well developed area of risk studies into the humanities this collection makes an important contribution that has the potential to promote a variety of cross disciplinary research including examinations of the psychology and sociology behind chauvinism personal expression and formative experiences Writing Life Writing Paul Eakin,2020-07-02 Why do we endlessly tell the stories of our lives And why do others pay attention when we do The essays collected here address these questions focusing on three different but interrelated dimensions of life writing The first section Narrative argues that narrative is not only a literary form but also a social and cultural practice and finally a mode of cognition and an expression of our most basic physiology The next section Life Writing Historical Forms makes the case for the historical value of the subjectivity recorded in ego documents The essays in the final section Autobiography Now identify primary motives for engaging in self narration in an age characterized by digital media and quantum cosmology Academic Vocabulary Level 3--Writing Personal Narratives Christine Dugan,2014-02-01 This lesson integrates academic vocabulary instruction into content area lessons Two easy to implement strategies for teaching academic vocabulary are integrated within the step by step standards based writing lesson Personal Narrative, Revised Bronwyn Clare LaMay,2016 In this inspirational book LaMay shows readers how to transform classrooms and schools into places where youth can explore the intersection between literacy and their lives This book is the culmination of a literacy curriculum that the author and her high school students wrote dialogically beginning with their attempt to define love Through real life classroom examples they demonstrate how an innovative curriculum that intertwines personal and academic engagement can create space for students to explore their identities connect to literary texts and develop agency as writers and thinkers In this important contribution to literacy educators the author shows how personal narratives can help students rebuild their fractured relationships with school and envision writing and academic achievement as playing a role in their futures Book Features Evidence of how students social emotional and academic growth may intertwine in the interest of school engagement A re conceptualization of the complex layers of the personal narrative genre and its role in the pedagogy of academic writing A reinterpretation of the transformational role of revision in students academic and life texts Examples of writing and interview data that illustrate the diversity of student responses Heart and mind blend in this remarkable story of a teacher and her students working with courageous determination to create an education that values young people and gives weight and meaning to their lives Mike Rose UCLA Graduate School of Education and Information Studies and author of Why School Reclaiming Education for All of Us This wonderful book demonstrates how enabling students to tackle ideas that are meaningful to them can produce both rigor and integrity in the learning process Linda Darling Hammond president Learning Policy Institute Bronwyn LaMay takes Toni Morrison s concept of response ability to heart and develops a powerful sequenced theory of narrative revelation in order to empower students and teachers Nigel Hatton University of California Autobiographical Writing and Identity in EFL

Education Shizhou Yang, 2013-09-11 The book explores the pedagogical potential of autobiographical writing in English as a foreign language approaching the topic from an educational longitudinal dialogical and social perspective Through a number of case studies the author delineates four phases that EFL writers may experience in their identity construction processes illustrating the complexity of EFL writers social identities This book will provide a valuable resource for language teachers and researchers interested in the pedagogical applications of autobiographical writing Differentiated Instruction for the Middle School Language Arts Teacher Karen E. D'Amico, Kate Gallaway, 2009-01-27 An essential resource for teachers in inclusive classrooms This valuable sourcebook offers teachers key strategies on how to design and deliver effective instruction measure success and get students to work together Covering topics such as decoding vocabulary blocking using graphic organizers mnemonics literary elements writing as a process and doing research it features dozens of ready to use language arts activities that are tied to core curriculum standards and each activity has adaptations for students with different learning needs Toward a Literary Ecology Karen E. Waldron, Rob Friedman, 2013-07-29 Scholarship of literature and the environment demonstrates myriad understandings of nature and culture While some work in the field results in approaches that belong in the realm of cultural studies other scholars have expanded the boundaries of ecocriticism to connect the practice more explicitly to disciplines such as the biological sciences human geography or philosophy Even so the field of ecocriticism has yet to clearly articulate its interdisciplinary and transdisciplinary nature In Toward a Literary Ecology Places and Spaces in American Literature editors Karen E Waldron and Robert Friedman have assembled a collection of essays that study the interconnections between literature and the environment to theorize literary ecology The disciplinary perspectives in these essays allow readers to comprehend places and environments and to represent express or strive for that comprehension through literature Contributors to this volume explore the works of several authors including Gary Snyder Karen Tei Yamashita Rachel Carson Terry Tempest Williams Chip Ward and Mary Oliver Other essays discuss such topics as urban fiction as a model of literary ecology the geographies of belonging in the work of Native American poets and the literary ecology of place in new nature writing Investigating texts for the complex interconnections they represent Toward a Literary Ecology suggests what such texts might teach us about the interconnections of our own world This volume also offers a means of analyzing representations of people in places within the realm of an historical cultural and geographically bounded yet diverse American literature Intended for students of literature and ecology this collection will also appeal to scholars of geography cultural studies philosophy biology history anthropology and other related disciplines Dangerous Writing Carmen Luz Fuentes-Vásquez, 2013 This book examines the literary construction of personal identity through autobiographical narratives by three significant writers analysed together for the first time the Scottish Willa Muir 1890 1970 the Canadian Margaret Laurence 1926 1987 and the New Zealander Janet Frame 1924 2004 These apparently dissimilar authors suffered not only geographical but also political marginality they were women from the working class or struggling middle class striving to be considered as professional writers and emerging from countries that might be felt to be under the shadows of economic and political world powers such as England and the United States During their lifetimes they exerted themselves to overcome prejudices about class gender and ethnicity They experienced war and the post war era and lived through most of the twentieth century being accurate witnesses and critics of their times As it discusses major writers who are iconic for the development of the literatures of their respective countries this book also attracts readers who are interested in learning more about the lives of these remarkable women the way their socio historical and geographical circumstances affected their writing and how they expressed such concerns in their autobiographies and other fictional and non fictional works besides considering them in relation to contemporary women writers and autobiographers who underwent similar experiences Writing, Imitation, and Performance Irene L. Clark,2022-12-02 This book reconsiders imitation as a valuable pedagogical approach in Writing Studies Countering concerns about product oriented teaching formulaic writing paternalistic or elitist pedagogy and plagiarism the book maintains that the use of imitation can offer a writer greater insight and help to develop a clear writerly identity Positing that writers often use imitation as a step toward developing new directions structures and styles and that this imitation is indeed a form of performance the author explores the neuropsychological aspect of imitation to show how it is a valid form of writing instruction She explains how learning experience and role playing are manifested in the brain and influence one's sense of self one's identity The book emphasizes that imitation can provide students with opportunities to perform habitually as writers readers and critical thinkers enabling them to develop new understandings and confidence in their ability to improve It also includes suggestions for classroom application written by Craig A Meyer This book offers important insights for scholars and teachers of writing and composition education and communication studies Teaching and Learning in Saudi Arabia Amani K Hamdan,2015-12-01 Saudi Arabia is witnessing unprecedented progress in the field of higher education Even though the country opened its first university in 1957 so far there seems to be little English scholarly writing about Saudi education in general and higher education in particular The current expansion of Saudi Arabia's higher education system has put a spotlight on this serious gap in the international literature This book helps to fill this lacuna through the work of 16 scholars who have contributed to the development of the Saudi education system In so doing the book reveals areas where more research is required and thus provides a useful starting point for education scholars This anthology is unique in that it is the first to offer a comprehensive perspective on the current knowledge base pertaining to Saudi higher education as well as to the ongoing efforts to introduce reforms Writing That Makes Sense, 2nd Edition David S. Hogsette,2019-11-05 The second edition of Writing That Makes Sense takes students through the fundamentals of the writing process and explores the basic steps of critical thinking Drawing upon over twenty years of experience teaching college composition and professional writing David S Hogsette combines relevant writing pedagogy and practical assignments with
