Military Social Skill Development 2015 Intake:

South Africa's Post-Apartheid Military Lindy Heineken, 2020-01-01 This timely book examines how the South African National Defence Force has adapted to the country's new security political and social environment since 1994. In South Africa's changed political state, how has civilian control of the military been implemented and what does this mean for defence in a democracy? This book presents an overview of the security environment, how the mission focus of the military has changed and the implications for force procurement, force preparation, force employment and force sustainability. The author addresses other issues such as the effect of integrating former revolutionary soldiers into a professional armed force, the effect of affirmative action on meritocracy, recruitment and retention, military veterans looking at the difficulties they face in reintegrating back into society and finding gainful employment, gender equality and mainstreaming the rise of military unions and why a confrontational instead of a more corporatist approach to labour relations has emerged. HIV/AIDS and the consequences this holds for the military in terms of its operational effectiveness. In closing, the author highlights key events that have caused the SANDF to become lost in transition and transformation, spelling out some lessons learned. The conclusions she draws are pertinent for the future of defence security and civil-military relations of countries around the world. State, Foreign Operations, and Related Programs Appropriations for 2017 United States. Committee on Appropriations. Subcommittee on State, Foreign Operations, and Related Programs, 2016. Handbook of Military Psychology Stephen V. Bowles, Paul T. Bartone, 2017-12-05 This expert compendium surveys the current state of military psychology across the branches of service at the clinical, research, consulting and organizational levels. Its practical focus examines psychological adjustment pre and post deployment, commonly encountered conditions e.g. substance abuse and the promotion of well-being, sleep, mindfulness and resilience training. Coverage pays particular attention to uses of psychology in selection and assessment of service personnel in specialized positions and training concerns for clinicians and students choosing to work with the military community. Chapters also address topics of particular salience to a socially conscious military including PTSD, sexual harassment and assault, women's and LGBT issues, suicide prevention and professional ethics. Among the specific chapters, topics covered: Military deployment psychology, psychologists in the forward environment, Stress and resilience in married military couples, Assessment and selection of high-risk operational personnel, processes, procedures and underlying theoretical constructs, Understanding and addressing sexual harassment and sexual assault in the US military, Virtual reality applications for the assessment and treatment of PTSD. Plus international perspectives on military psychology from China, Australia, India and more. Grounding its readers in up-to-date research and practice, Military Psychology will assist health psychologists, clinical psychologists, psychiatrists and clinical social workers in understanding and providing treatment for military populations, veterans and their families as well as military psychologists in leadership and consulting positions. Consumption and Care Aurianne Stroude, Laurence Godin, Barbara Smetschka, Gabriella Spinelli, 2025-03-31 Sustainable consumption is an essential element for the transition towards sustainable lifestyles In our daily lives care is intertwined with processes of looking after oneself family households and friends as well as distant others and the community as a whole As such it addresses all planes of human lives From a sustainability perspective care also relates to the living environment and the resources necessary for production and consumption Looking at sustainable consumption through the lens of care offers us conceptual tools to reframe how to safeguard the planet its biodiversity and the people living on it In a classic definition care is summarized as a species activity that includes everything that we do to maintain continue and repair our world so that we can live in it as well as possible Fisher and Tronto 1991 mention that world includes our bodies our selves and our environment all of which we seek to interweave in a complex life sustaining web Care highlights our vulnerability as living beings and the way a complex network of life sustaining relationships holds us responsible to each other Care is thus a significant thread that links together the ecological economic social and political systems we act within with important implications for sustainable consumption and building sustainable societies Scholarship on how care and sustainable practices interact is fragmented but the interest is growing Care originates in feminist scholarship first developed in relation to health In more recent years its uses have been also expanding to environmental and sustainability realms Today the work on sustainable consumption and care can be roughly divided into four categories The first area of work relates to whether ethical or political consumption can allow caring relations to flourish and develop The second area of research is concerned with sustainability in the context of motherhood mostly showing how gender relations and caring activities tend to send sustainability in the background in favor of a focus on health A third and growing body of work pertains to how inconspicuous consumption is intertwined with care activities for example in relation to food or energy consumption Such work also addresses gender and social inequalities in sustainable consumption as well as notions of communities built through consumption practices and caring relations Finally care as a dimension of geographical communities or communities of interest that supports sustainability and resilience is also gaining traction The goal of this Research Topic is to delineate and differentiate the interplay between sustainable consumption and care We are interested in care in the context of sustainable consumption including social economic and ecological sustainability Resource use and material energy and time demand differ widely amongst caring practices We want to identify and explore tensions common ground innovations and key issues in these areas We consider care as a useful concept to imagine and bring about societies oriented towards sustainable wellbeing and to define the pathways and practices necessary to achieve them As we wish to define a new research area this topic aims to discuss the interrelation between care and sustainability by addressing but not limited to the following themes from a variety of perspectives amongst others feminism gender studies and intersectional approaches socio technical systems social practice theories critical theory transformative approaches time use studies socio ecological transformation or Actor Network Theory An ethos of care as a pathway towards more sustainable forms of production and consumption Conceptualizing needs and wellbeing through the lens of care Analyzing caring practices from a perspective of climate change resource use and energy demands Methodological implications of care and an intersectional feminist approach to sustainable consumption Time for care in the unpaid and paid world of work incl commodification and outsourcing of care in the global economy Teleoaffectivities emotions the body and social norms Agency social and environmental justice inequalities and sustainable wellbeing Care for the community and the public good as a way towards a more sustainable society We are particularly interested in original research methodological and theoretical papers case studies as well as policy and practice reviews

The Palestinian Economy (RLE Economy of Middle East) George T. Abed, 2015-05-15 This volume brings together the results of the symposium on Economic Development under Prolonged Occupation held at Oxford University in January 1986. The basic aim of the symposium was to stimulate research and discussion on issues of economic development by a prolonged occupation. It brought together a number of development economists, representatives from development assistance organisations and other individuals engaged in one facet or another of social and economic development in the occupied areas. The papers presented here reflect the wide range of thought on the issues surrounding the Palestinian Economy.

The Made-Up State Benjamin Hegarty, 2022-12-15 In The Made Up State Benjamin Hegarty contends that waria, who compose one of Indonesia's trans-feminine populations, have cultivated a distinctive way of captivating the affective material and spatial experiences of belonging to a modern public sphere. Combining historical and ethnographic research, Hegarty traces the participation of waria in visual and bodily technologies ranging from psychiatry and medical transsexuality to photography and feminine beauty. The concept of development deployed by the modern Indonesian state relies on naturalizing the binary of male and female. As historical brokers between gender as a technological system of classifying human difference and state citizenship, waria shaped the contours of modern selfhood even while being positioned as nonconforming within it. The Made Up State illuminates waria as part of the social and technological format of state rule, which has given rise to new possibilities for seeing and being seen as a citizen in postcolonial Indonesia.
