- 1) Thompson (1984) defines five categories for the process of spreading diffusion from the origin. Source is the starting location; transmission is what the person who starts the movement is doing; intermediary is the person who passes the information on; target is the person who receives the information; host is the person who is infected. The original source and production/starting up is the only only way to count your initial person (first generation) correctly.
- 2) Thompson (1984) describes five categories as to whether an idea is top-down or bottom-up. Idea is the message you spread or introduce from the origin; top-down is diffusion of information.
- 3) Make this point relevant to the context of your study (e.g. why this diffusion is the spread of a particular idea or the spread of a group of ideas).
- 4) Focus your results on to which specific source is to which idea is spread (e.g. source person to go to).
- 5) Explain why it's relevant and change from the process of spreading (e.g. idea is the source, transmission is the message, intermediary is the person who passes the information on).
- 6) Explain why it's relevant and change from the process of spreading (e.g. idea is the source, transmission is the message, intermediary is the person who passes the information on).

Abstract: The purpose of this study was to determine the effect of a 12-week, low-intensity, supervised walking program on the physical and psychological health of sedentary, middle-aged women. The study was a randomized, controlled trial. The subjects were 40 sedentary, middle-aged women who were randomly assigned to either a supervised walking program or a control group. The walking program consisted of 12 weeks of supervised walking, 3 times per week, for 30 minutes per session. The control group consisted of 20 women who did not participate in the walking program. The subjects were assessed at baseline and at 12 weeks. The walking program had a significant positive effect on the physical and psychological health of the subjects. The walking program significantly improved the subjects' physical health, as measured by the 6-minute walk test, and their psychological health, as measured by the Beck Depression Inventory and the State-Trait Anxiety Inventory. The walking program also had a significant positive effect on the subjects' quality of life, as measured by the SF-36. The walking program was a safe and effective intervention for improving the physical and psychological health of sedentary, middle-aged women.
