Ilana van Wyk, Jimmy Pieterse, 2022-02-28 In this book Ilana van Wyk and Jimmy Pieterse interrogate the question of political subjectivity and its role in the making of anthropology and anthropologists by revisiting the pitched battles between so called liberal social anthropologists and conservative nationalist volkekundiges in South Africa They pay particular attention to the social and cultural lives of two men who were central proponents of South African anthropology s two tales Kees van der Waal a former volkekundige and John Sharp once one of volkekunde s fiercest critics Through a series of conversations with Kees and John they show that the issues that once divided a local field still animate the ways in which centres and peripheries of global anthropology relate to one another and to foundational questions about the discipline s epistemology and political positionality      Handbook of Research on Sub-National Governance and Development Schoburgh, could lead to crises with crops agriculture fed by rain could drop by 50% in some African countries by 2020 and livestock production could damage water supplies and pose an additional threat to coastal areas The 5th Assessment Report produced by IPCC predicts that wheat may disappear from Africa by 2080 and that maize a staple will fall significantly in southern Africa Also arid and semi arid lands are likely to increase by up to 8% with severe ramifications for livelihoods poverty eradication and meeting the SDGs Pursuing appropriate adaptation strategies is thus vital in order to address the current and future challenges posed by a changing climate It is against this background that the African Handbook of Climate Change Adaptation is being published It contains papers prepared by scholars representatives from social movements practitioners and members of governmental agencies undertaking research and or executing climate change projects in Africa and working with communities across the African continent Encompassing over 100 contributions from across Africa it is the most comprehensive publication on climate change adaptation in Africa ever produced

The Palgrave Handbook of Incarceration in Popular Culture Marcus Harmes, Meredith Harmes, Barbara Harmes, 2020-02-03 The Handbook of Incarceration in Popular Culture will be an essential reference point providing international coverage and thematic richness

The chapters examine the real and imagined spaces of the prison and perhaps more importantly dwell in the uncertain space between them. The modern fixation with seeing inside prison from the outside has prompted a proliferation of media visions of incarceration from high minded and worthy to voyeuristic and unrealistic. In this handbook the editors bring together a huge breadth of disparate issues including women in prison, the view from inside prisons as a source of entertainment, the real worlds of prison and issues of race and gender. The handbook will inform students and lecturers of media, film, popular culture, gender and cultural studies as well as scholars of criminology and justice. Anchored in Place Bank, Leslie, Cloete, Nico, 2018-11-05

Tensions in South African universities have traditionally centred around equity, particularly access and affordability, historical legacies such as apartheid and colonialism, and the shape and structure of the higher education system. What has not received sufficient attention is the contribution of the university to place based development. This volume is the first in South Africa to engage seriously with the place based developmental role of universities. In the international literature and policy there has been an increasing integration of the university with place based development, especially in cities. This volume weighs in on the debate by drawing attention to the place based roles and agency of South African universities in their local towns and cities. It acknowledges that universities were given specific development roles in regions, homelands and towns under apartheid and comments on why sub national place based development has not been a key theme in post apartheid higher education planning. Given the developmental crisis in the country, universities could be expected to play a more constructive and meaningful role in the development of their own precincts, cities and regions. But what should that role be? Is there evidence that this is already occurring in South Africa despite the lack of a national policy framework? What plans and programmes are in place and what is needed to expand the development agency of universities at the local level? Who and what might be involved? Where should the focus lie and who might benefit most and why? Is there a need perhaps to approach the challenges of college towns, secondary cities and metropolitan centers differently? This book poses some of these questions as it considers the experiences of a number of South African universities including Wits, Pretoria, Nelson Mandela University and especially Fort Hare as one of its post centenary challenges. Culture, philosophies and reforms in public administration for the globalizing world Edwin O.C. Ijeoma, Ogochukwu I. Nzewi, 2018-12-31. The aim of this scholarly collected work is to contribute to the scientific discourse on public administration in a globalised environment. The book reflects on governance challenges in South Africa and in Africa with its point of departure being the master narratives, the so called grand debates such as New Public Management and specifically the role of technology. It also reflects on the so called middle range discourses concerning organisational level issues in government, e.g. leadership and work procedures and explores new solutions to old governance challenges like corruption and service delivery. The uniqueness of this collected work lies in its ability to reflect on existing philosophies and practices in an innovative way. Through its multidisciplinary lens, the book opens up a new vision for the future of public administration in the South African context and on the African continent not neglecting the current local regional and global environment Until recently globalisation was considered an entrenched world order but international political events during the course of the past few years have resulted in one of the biggest challenges to its endurance in recent history This includes developments such as the successful referendum in Britain to exit the European Union highlighting the growth of a severe nationalist and protectionist agenda that may be a signal of the unravelling of the current globalism world order These developments inspire deeper interrogation of the challenges to effective public administration globally and the ripple effects in South Africa and Africa as a whole Pointedly it is evident that ensuring the voice of citizens in policy decision making remains a critical governance challenge On the policy front there are perennial challenges of land reform service delivery and poverty while on the governance front corruption has metastasised with a growing culture of impunity and lack of accountability in leadership In the midst of growing corruption and more than 20 years into democracy South Africa s income inequality remains one of the highest in the world This setting constitutes the context of the research outcome published in this scholarly work

Integrating Indigenous and Scientific Knowledge for Sustainable Food Systems in Africa Saa Dittoh, Anna Bon, Hans Akkermans, 2025-04-25 This open access book presents a novel approach to food security research SDG 2 Zero Hunger by integrating indigenous and scientific knowledge Through extensive field based research in Burkina Faso Ghana Kenya Mali and South Africa it explores the impact of merging traditional practices and local knowledge with scientific methods Through field studies the book shows the value of local knowledge and community led innovations in combating hunger achieving food security and enhancing nutrition sustainably and food sovereignty Drawing on decades of research in rural Africa the authors introduce the Plug In Principle a theory for integrating indigenous and modern knowledge systems to foster sustainable agricultural practices and enriched food ecosystems in Africa The Plug In Principle advocates that advancements in science and technology should enhance rather than replace existing indigenous knowledge This principle emerged from the failures of many development interventions where attempts at replacement often led to challenges and failures In agriculture for instance interventions in mechanization soil amendments seed and breed improvements and extension services have seldom succeeded due to a lack of integration with existing practices The Plug In Principle emphasizes that effective knowledge integration hinges on a deep understanding and appreciation of prevailing systems By designing interventions that seamlessly plug in to existing technologies we can ensure the co creation of effective solutions to the challenges we face This book is a testament to the potential of collaborative innovation in fostering sustainable development Development workers policymakers researchers students and donor agencies in agriculture and other development areas will find this volume invaluable Additionally scholars focused on decolonization and indigenous knowledge in the Global South will uncover insightful case studies and analyses
