Mohan,2014-06-12 China's recent stepping up of relations with Africa is one of the most significant developments on the African continent for decades. For some it promises an end to Africa's dependent aid relationships as the Chinese bring expertise, technology and a stronger business focus. But for others it is no more than a new form of imperialism. This book is the first to systematically study the motivations, relationships and impact of this migration. It focuses not just on the Chinese migrants but also on the perceptions of and linkages to their African hosts. By studying this everyday interaction we get a much richer picture of whether this is South-South cooperation as political leaders would have us believe or a more complex relationship that can both compromise and encourage African development. International Educational Development and Learning through Sustainable Partnerships

S. Coombs, M. Potts, J. Whitehead, 2014-09-23 Addressing the debate around what makes a good citizen, this work proposes a new form of post-colonial citizenship education which can be applied in any cultural setting. International educational partnerships provide the opportunity for participants to live out values such as cultural empathy and thus demonstrate their right to citizenship. The Trans Pacific Partnership, China and India

Amitendu Palit, 2014-06-05 The United States and 11 other countries from both sides of the Pacific are currently negotiating the Trans Pacific Partnership (TPP). The agreement is expected to set new benchmark for international trade through its comprehensive coverage of issues and binding regulations. It is expected to eventually mature into a regional trade agreement covering the entire Asia-Pacific. As of now it does not include China and India, the two largest emerging markets and regional economies. The TPP has generated controversy for its excessive emphasis on trade issues which have remained unresolved or unaddressed at the WTO due to differences between developed and emerging markets. It has also been criticized for adopting a negotiating style reflecting the US regulatory approach to international trade and also as a geo-political strategy of the US for supporting its strategic rebalancing towards Asia. From both economic and geo-political perspectives, the TPP has various significant implications for China and India that are examined in the book. This book sheds light on how China and India's entries in the TPP are mutually beneficial and how both countries can gain from the TPP by gaining preferential access to large markets and using it as an opportunity for introducing more outward-oriented reforms. The book also cautions that the US must reconcile to the rebalancing of economic power within the grouping that will occur following the entries of China and India. Otherwise the TPP and China and India might walk divergent paths and trade and regional integration in Asia-Pacific may not ever converge. This book will interest anyone who wishes to learn more about the TPP and its future implications and challenges and China and India's roles in global and regional trade. The Privatization of Israeli Security Shir Hever, 2017-11-20 Between 1994-2014 Israel's security service was transformed becoming one of the most extreme examples of privatised security in the world. This book is an investigation into this period and the conditions that created Occupation Inc, the institution of a private military security industrial complex. State-sponsored violence is increasing as a result of this securitisation but why is it necessary and what are its implications. In this book Shir Hever considers the impact of the ongoing Palestinian resistance to Israeli occupation the influence of U S military aid and the rise of neoliberalism in Israel to make sense of this dramatic change in security policy Through the lens of political economy this book shows how the Israeli security elites turn violence into a commodity in order to preserve their status and wealth providing a fresh new perspective on the Israeli occupation
