Marshall 5 The Waterloo Incident Marshall:

The Life of Field Marshall the Duke of Wellington Joachim Hayward Stocqueler, 1854 Back Fire Geoffrey Regan, 1995
It has been estimated that during the First World War 75 000 French soldiers were killed or maimed by friendly fire the euphemism commonly used for being killed by one's own colleagues or allies presumably in error As recently as the Gulf War the heaviest British casualties suffered in a single engagement were caused when US forces fired at British armoured vehicles killing nine of the men inside A quarter of all American casualties in 1991 were caused by other American soldiers How can this happen How widespread is it To what extent is the problem covered up Wallace's Farm and Dairy ,1909

Forward into Battle Paddy Griffith, 2011-03-30 The first edition 1981 took a critical look at the accepted wisdom of historians who interpreted battlefield events primarily by reference to firepower It showed that Wellington's infantry had won by their mobility rather than their musketry that the bayonet did not become obsolete in the nineteenth century as is often claimed and that the tank never supplanted the infantryman in the twentieth A decade later the author has been able to fill out many parts of his analysis and has extended it into the near future The Napoleonic section includes an analysis of firepower and fortification notably at the Battle of New Orleans in 1815 Additional discussions of the tactics of the American Civil War have been included The evolution of small unit tactics in the First World War is next considered then the problem of making an armored breakthrough in the Second World War Following is a discussion of the limitations of both the helicopter and firepower in Vietnam The author points to some of the lessons learned by the U S military and the doctrine which resulted from that experience Concluding is a glimpse at the strangely empty battlefield landscape that might be expected in any future high technology conflict The Illustrated sporting & dramatic news ,1878 "The" Athenaeum ,1885

OLR Index ,1925 Ontario Library Review and Book-selection Guide ,1921 Hoard's Dairyman ,1917 Niles' Weekly Register ,1826 Containing political historical geographical scientific statistical economical and biographical documents essays and facts together with notices of the arts and manufactures and a record of the events of the times
