Nemser

Funza Lushaka Characteristics:

Low-Income Students, Human Development and Higher Education in South Africa Melanie Walker, Monica McLean, 2022-07-15 This book explores learning outcomes for low income rural and township youth at five South African universities The book is framed as a contribution to southern and Africa centred scholarship adapting Amartya Sen's capability approach and a framework of key concepts capabilities functionings context conversion factors poverty and agency to investigate opportunities and obstacles to achieved student outcomes This approach allows a reimagining of inclusive learning outcomes to encompass the multi dimensional value of a university education and a plurality of valued cognitive and non cognitive outcomes for students from low income backgrounds whose experiences are strongly shaped by hardship Based on capability theorising and student voices the book proposes for policy and practice a set of contextual higher education capability domains and corresponding functionings orientated to more justice and more equality for each person to have the opportunities to be and to do what they have reason to value The book concludes that sufficient material resources are necessary to get into university and flourish while there the benefits of a university education should be rich and multi dimensional so that they can result in functionings in all areas of life as well as work and future study the inequalities and exclusion of the labour market and pathways to further study must be addressed by wider economic and social policies for inclusive learning outcomes to be meaningful and that universities ought to be doing more to enable black working class students to participate and succeed Low Income Students Human Development and Higher Education in South Africa makes an original contribution to capability scholarship conceptually in theorising a South based multi dimensional student well being higher education matrix and a rich reconceptualisation of learning outcomes as well as empirically by conducting rigorous longitudinal in depth mixed methods research on students lives and experiences in higher education in South Africa The audience for the book includes higher education researchers international capability scholars practitioners and policy makers

Political Transformations and Teacher Education Programs Miriam Ben-Peretz, Sharon

Feiman-Nemser, 2017-11-01 Political transformations have a decisive power to shape education systems in general and teacher education programs in particular How these processes unfold is especially interesting in educational systems which are not generally known to Anglo Saxon educators like Germany Russia or China Several chapters in this volume discuss the impact of statewide political transformation on teacher education programs Political transformation is one of the important features of societies in the second half of the 20th century Political transformations and changing ideologies are part of the history of teaching and teacher education It is important to be aware of this process in order to keep the accumulated experience of the teaching profession alive and contribute to present day education policy and practice Bringing ideological political perspectives to bear on teacher education can deepen our understanding of the relation between society and teacher education Moreover it highlights the pivotal role that teachers play in any society This volume presents different ways of analyzing teacher education programs through the lens of different ideologies and the influence of societal transformations

Getting Skills Right Community Education and Training in South Africa OECD,2019-03-14 Adult learning systems play a crucial role in helping people adapt to the changing world of work and develop relevant skills Community Education and Training has been brought forward as a possible way to foster adult learning in South Africa especially among disadvantaged groups South Africa Intersectionality and Human Rights Law Shreya Atrey,Peter Dunne,2020-12-10 This collection of essays analyses how diversity in human identity and disadvantage affects the articulation realisation violation and enforcement of human rights The question arises from the realisation that people who are severally and severely disadvantaged because of their race religion gender age disability sexual orientation class etc often find themselves at the margins of human rights their condition seldom improved and sometimes even worsened by the rights discourse How does one make sense of this relationship between the complexity of people s disadvantage and violation of their human rights Does the human rights discourse based on its universal and common values have tools methods or theories to capture and respond to the difference in people s lived experience of rights Can intersectionality help in that quest This book seeks to inaugurate this line of inquiry
