gondola or wicker basket in some long distance or high altitude balloons a capsule which carries passengers and a source of heat in most cases an open flame caused by burning liquid propane The heated air inside the envelope makes it buoyant since it has a lower density than the colder air outside the envelope As with all aircraft hot air balloons cannot fly beyond the atmosphere Unlike gas balloons the envelope does not have to be sealed at the bottom since the air near the bottom of the envelope is at the same pressure as the surrounding air In modern sport balloons the envelope is generally made from nylon fabric and the inlet of the balloon closest to the burner flame is made from a fire resistant material such as Nomex Modern balloons have been made in all kinds of shapes such as rocket ships and the shapes of various commercial products though the traditional shape is used for most non commercial and many commercial applications The hot air balloon is the first successful human carrying flight technology The first untethered manned hot air balloon flight was performed by Jean Francois Pil tre de Rozier and Francois Laurent d Arlandes on November 21 1783 in Paris France in a balloon created by the Montgolfier brothers The first hot air balloon flown in the Americas was launched from the Walnut Street Jail in Philadelphia on January 9 1793 by the French aeronaut Jean Pierre Blanchard One wonders why it was launched from a jail Was he imprisoned for his passion or was it the only flat roof for miles around Hot air balloons that can be propelled through the air rather than simply drifting with the wind are known as thermal airships
