The patient was successfully intubated orally, with no intubation relationship, using a C-MAC video laryngoscope and difficult intubation d-Blade, following inhaled induction and topical anesthesia of the airway.

We do want to stress the clinical value of video laryngoscopy in patients with positive predictors of difficult intubation, the applicability of device for the maintenance of spontaneous ventilation in a patient asleep, as well as the use of laryngoscopy for removal of endotracheal tube in a myasthenia patient.
