School Science Practical Work in Africa Umesh Ramnarain, 2020-06-01 School Science Practical Work in Africa presents the scope of research and practice of science practical work in African schools. It brings together prominent science educators and researchers from Africa to share their experience and findings on pedagogical innovations and research informed practices on school science practical work. The book highlights trends and patterns in the enactment and role of practical work across African countries. Practical work is regarded as intrinsic to science teaching and learning and the form of practical work that is strongly advocated is inquiry based learning which signals a definite paradigm shift from the traditional teacher dominated to a learner centered approach. The book provides empirical research on approaches to practical work, contextual factors in the enactment of practical work and professional development in teaching practical work. This book will be of great interest to academics, researchers and post graduate students in the fields of science education and educational policy. Education for All 2000-2015: Achievements and challenges UNESCO, 2015-04-08 Literaturverz S 414 459 Multilingual classroom contexts Christa van der Walt, Verbra Pfeiffer, 2021-12-01 By far the majority of South African students get their schooling in a second language which means that our classrooms are multilingual. This state of affairs is not exclusive to our country as can be seen in the many academic conferences on multilingual learning and teaching. Terms like translanguage and biliteracy appear in many articles and books that discuss the role language in education. What makes the multilingual nature of our South African classrooms challenging is the fact that many learners switch from one language of learning and teaching to another at various points in their school career from home language to English or Afrikaans after the foundation phase from one language of learning and teaching to another when they move to new schools high school or tertiary institutions. This book is an attempt to highlight the transitions from home to school from foundation to intermediate phase from primary to high school and from high school to tertiary institutions.
