Economic crises in history teaching Council of Europe, 2025-10-01 How can history education equip students to understand and confront the economic crises of yesterday and tomorrow Since the beginning of the 21st century the economic consequences of the debt crises of 2007 and 2008 of the Covid 19 pandemic and of Russia's war of aggression against Ukraine have continuously challenged the livelihood of many families in Europe and around the world Understanding economic crises from a historical perspective enables students to better respond to present and future experiences of such crises The mission of the Observatory on History Teaching in Europe OHTE is to provide a clear picture of the state of history teaching in its member states This is done through OHTE general reports on the state of history teaching in Europe and OHTE thematic reports which explore particular areas of interest and how they are treated in history lessons The second thematic report of the OHTE investigates the extent and the ways in which learners are being prepared to understand and cope with such crises through history education in the public schooling systems of OHTE's 17 member states It combines curriculum and textbook analysis with an explorative study of teachers' experiences and summarises its most significant conclusions into 10 key findings listed in the introductory chapter

Myths and Mythical Spaces Claudia Lichnofsky, Enriketa Pandejmoni, Darko Stojanov, 2017-12-04 This volume addresses textbooks written in the Albanian language and in use in Albania Kosovo Macedonia and Serbia Political myths and mythical spaces play a key role in shaping processes of identity building concepts of self and other and ideas pertaining to the location of the self and nation within a post conflict context The Albanian case is particularly interesting because the majority of Albanians live outside the borders of Albania despite the existence of the nation state which gives rise to fascinating complexities regarding the shaping of national identities and myths surrounding concepts of self and other What textbooks teach is always of political interest as they represent society's intentions for its next generation This renders identity building processes via textbooks in this context a particularly fascinating topic for research here examined through the lens of myths and mythical spaces
