Teaching English as a Foreign or Second Language, Second Edition Jerry G. Gebhard, 2006-01-10. Teaching English as a Foreign or Second Language, Second Edition is designed for those new to ESL/EFL teaching and for self-motivated teachers who seek to maximize their potential and enhance the learning of their students. This guide provides basic information that ESL/EFL teachers should know before they start teaching, and many ideas on how to guide students in the skills of listening, speaking, reading, and writing. It stresses the multifaceted nature of teaching the English language to non-native speakers and is based on the real experiences of teachers. The second edition of Teaching English as a Foreign or Second Language includes a wider range of examples to coincide with a variety of teaching contexts, from K-12 schools to university intensive language programs and refugee programs. It is also updated with discussions of technology throughout and it considers ways in which technology can be used in teaching language skills. Sources for further study are included in each chapter and in the appendixes.

This text is aimed principally at the beginning graduate or advanced undergraduate student but was written also to serve as a review and more ambitiously as a synthesis of the field. To achieve these purposes several objectives were imposed on the writing. The first was since ecologists must be the master borrowers of biology to give the flavor of the eclectic nature of the field by providing coverage of many of the interdisciplinary topics relevant to marine ecology. The second objective was to portray marine ecology as a discipline in the course of discovery, one in which there are very few settled issues. In many instances it is only possible to discuss diverse views and point out the need for further study The lack of clear conclusions may be frustrating to the beginning student but nonetheless reflects the current and necessarily exciting state of the discipline The third purpose is to guide the reader further into topics of specialized interest by providing sufficient recent references especially reviews The fourth objective is to present marine ecology for what it is a branch of ecology Many concepts approaches and methods of marine ecology are inspired or derived from terrestrial and limnological antecedents There are in addition instructive comparisons to be made among results obtained from marine freshwater and terrestrial environments I have therefore incorporated the intellectual antecedents of particular concepts and some non marine comparisons into the text
