

Tailgate Will Not Retract

FIG. 7

FIG. 7: Tailgate (Correct), Kicker Retracting

Operation

After the tailgate closes, the kicker moves back into the home position. The oil in the cylinder of the tailgate is static because there is no movement in the cylinder since the tailgate is closed. The pressure is forced through port A and the selector valve is energized, the oil then passes through the pilot operated check valve. The pressure of the oil passes through the floating orifice, and out of port L, and into the rod end of the kicker cylinder. The oil is returned from the base end of the cylinder. The oil then passes through port R and the kicker solenoid. The return of pressure through the 4/3-way orifice and port R, and to the hydraulic remote valve.

Troubleshooting

- Make sure the kicker remote valve is in the correct position. The kicker remote valve must be shifted as pressure of oil from the kicker solenoid port A on the side of the kicker valve.
- Check to make sure the kicker moves freely. Make sure the lubrication points are properly lubricated.

- Make sure there is not a problem with the tractor hydraulic system. The tractor hydraulic system must have a minimum of 12-410 psi (1000 psi). See the service manual for the tractor and check the tractor hydraulic system.
- The problem can be caused by the speed not moving in the kicker solenoid valve.
- The problem can be caused by lost piston seal in a kicker cylinder or tailgate cylinder. Oil flows around the piston seal so there is not enough pressure available to retract the kicker cylinders.
- The problem can be a plugged orifice in port R or floating orifice plate in port L in the kicker valve.
- The problem can be caused by an electrical problem with the solenoid.
- The problem can be caused by defects in the tailgate up or down position.

Kicker Will Not Stay in The Home Position

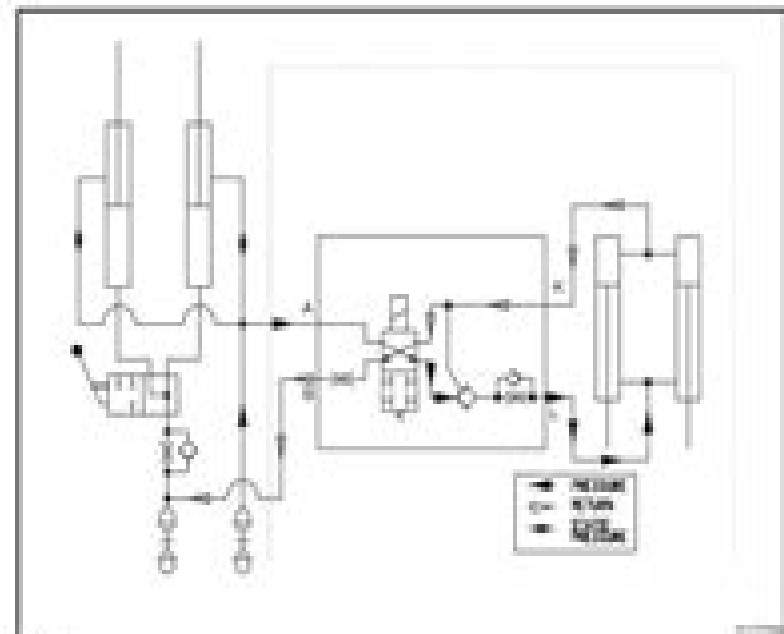

FIG. 8

- The problem can be caused by a lost pilot operated check valve in the kicker solenoid valve. When the kicker is in the retracted position, oil is held in the rod end of the kicker cylinder by the pilot operated check valve. If the pilot operated check valve is not closed, oil can flow from the rod end of the kicker cylinder and the kicker will swing down from the retracted position.
- The problem can be caused by lost piston seal in a kicker cylinder. When the kicker is in the retracted position, oil is held in the rod end of the kicker cylinder by the pilot operated check valve. If a piston seal is lost, the oil from the rod end of the kicker cylinder can flow to the base end. This will let the kicker swing down from the retracted position.
