Chapter 1-Answer Key

CONCEPT CHECK

1.1 What is the hydrologic cycle? What are the pathways that precipitation falling onto the land surface of the Earth is dispersed to the hydrologic cycle?

ANSWER:

The hydrologic cycle is a continuous process in which water is evaporated from water surfaces and the oceans, moves inland as moist air masses, and produces precipitation if the correct vertical lifting conditions exist.

A portion of precipitation (rainfall) is retained in the soil near where it falls and returns to the atmosphere via evaporation (the conversion of water to water vapor from a water surface) and transpiration (the loss of water vapor through plant tissue and leaves). Combined loss is called evapotranspiration and is a maximum value if the water supply in the soil is adequate at all times. Some water enters the soil system in infiltration which is a function of soil moisture conditions and soil and may reenter channels later as interflow or may percolate to recharge the shallow ground water. The remaining portion of precipitation becomes overland flow or direct runoff which flows generally in a down-gradient direction to accumulate in local streams that then flow into rivers.

Hydrology And Floodplain Analysis 5th Edition Solution:

Nature-Based Solutions for Urban Water Management Junguo Liu, Zhan Tian, Qinhua Ye, Laixiang Sun, Shiqiang Wu, 2024-02-23 Water plays an essential role in the development and functioning of a city but could also be a key risk factor for urban pluvial flooding which may occur more frequently in the context of future climate change The traditional means of flood risk management relied heavily on engineering measures or the use of gray infrastructure Recently there has been a call to integrate nature based solutions NBS which make use of natural processes and ecosystem services with conventional engineering approaches NBS infrastructures and designs pay great attention to ecosystem services considerations in assessing their induced hydrological processes as well as in managing the stormwater and mitigating urban flood and droughts Nevertheless compared with grey infrastructure larger space could be demanded for NBS while the buffer effect for NBS in extremes events is still uncertain for evaluation
