The Narcissistic Text Brian T. Fitch, 1982-12-15 Critics theologians philosophers and psychoanalysts have written several thousand books theses and articles about Camus fiction His first published novel L'Etranger had a unique impact on a whole generation of readers and is other fiction although not as well known has also been influential However Camus fiction so far has not been judged by contemporary critical methods and inter textuality or the study of the interrelationship between Camus own texts has not been examined The Narcissistic Text A Reading of Camus Fiction is the first book devoted to the whole of Camus fiction to adopt this approach Brian Fitch uses the critical tools elaborated in the writings of such French formalists as Barthes Ricardou and Todorov and draws upon the hermeneutic theory of literature developed by Gadamer and Ricoeur As a result the self generating word play or linguistic narcissism of Jonas and the textual narcissism of La Peste are seen to give way in L'Etranger to a situation where the hermeneutic circle is itself contained within the circularity of autorepresentation As for the narcissism of La Chute it concerns the reader himself since what the text provides is a model of the hermeneutic process Fitch thus demonstrates that Camus fiction occupies a significant place in modern literature This volume will be of particular interest to those involved in Camus studies or concerned with contemporary critical methodology and literary theory

The Spatiotemporal Eschatology of Hebrews Luke Woo, 2024-07-11 There are two coexisting realities classified under New Testament eschatology the temporal and spatial While much scholarly attention has focused on the temporal Luke Woo argues that the spatial aspect is either neglected or relegated to Platonic or cosmological categories Woo thus seeks to provide a holistic understanding by investigating these realities for believers under the heavenly tabernacle motif in the Epistle to the Hebrews Woo posits that the author of Hebrews presents the heavenly tabernacle and all its high priestly activity in order to eschatologically situate orient and ground believers thus enabling believers to actualize their heavenly priestly identity by serving as priests on earth Woo uses Edward Soja's Tripartite Critical Spatiality to analyze the heavenly tabernacle's Firstspace Secondspace and Thirdspace features found in Hebrews 4 14 8 1 5 9 1 14 He suggests that Christ in his resurrection and ascension enters an actualized heavenly tabernacle which allows believers to spiritually occupy that sanctuary space in the presence of God establishing a spatial orientation for believers who can identify as heavenly priests and be motivated to serve as such as they live on earth

A Text-book of Physiology for Medical Students and Physicians William Henry Howell, 1927 The Protean Text Kimberlee Anne Campbell, 2019-06-26 Originally published in 1988 The Protean Text looks at the shifting evolution of medieval texts and how changing social and aesthetic values were depicted in the literature of the period The book examines how this was reflected in the reworking and rewriting of texts a common practice in medieval literature as various groups adapted existing legends to their own socio aesthetic needs Such textual fluidity often resulted in a proliferation of versions This tendency to experience the text in protean terms is intrinsic to medieval literary expression This book uses the legend of Doon and Olive to discuss the protean text and uses the diverse series of extant versions available to enhance our understanding of the possibilities of literary shift and modulation through this period

Sex Work, Text Work Jessica Tanner, 2023-05-15 Though male French authors plotted prostitution to make their names mimicking the surveillance of municipal authorities the sex workers in their books manage to evade efforts to contain them While prostitutes in nineteenth century Paris were subject to municipal laws that policed their bodies and movements writers of the era enlisted them to stake their own claims on both the city and the novel as literary territory Sex Work Text Work Mapping Prostitution in the Nineteenth Century French Novel explores how prostitutes depicted by Zola Joris Karl Huysmans Edmond de Goncourt Adolphe Tabarant and Charles Louis Philippe write back confounding civil and literary efforts to contain them in space and in narrative In city regulated brothels brasseries femmes Haussmannian boulevards and the novel itself working class prostitutes served to reinforce the boundaries of social inclusion and exclusion And yet Jessica Tanner contends even the novels that most explicitly aligned with the disciplinary logic of regulated prostitution make space for a distinctly literary form of resistance these women elude or disrupt the mapping that would claim them as literary territory revealing their authors failure to secure their narratives as property Tanner pushes back against the critical tendency to attribute agency only to courtesans who became published authors and forwards a new framework for understanding the political work novels engage in as they circulate Observing that debates about the regulation of prostitution surfaced in tandem with racialized anxieties about the boundaries of the French nation Tanner ultimately expands that framework to the history of French colonialism and the politics of immigration in the current day This book shows that while sex workers have been recruited to mark the borders of civic and moral life prostitution can also make space for more inclusive forms of community both in the novel and in the world beyond its bounds
