Use this experiment to answer questions 9-12.

I want to know if my dogs will eat faster if I add carrots or apples to my dog's kibble. I think that if I add apples to their kibble, the dogs will eat the food the quickest. I will feed them 2 cups of food twice every day, for three months. I will also feed them in the same bowls, in the same location, and at the same time every day. One month I will feed them just kibble with nothing added into it, the next month I will feed them kibble and carrots, and the third month I will feed them kibble and apples. No matter what I add to the kibble, the total amount of food will still be 2 cups. I will measure how fast they are eating their food to determine if putting carrots or apples in their food makes them eat faster.

9. What is the dependent variable?
- The different types of food
  - The food with just kibble
  - The time it takes them to eat their food
  - The amount of food they are receiving every day
10. What is the independent variable?
- The different types of food
  - The food with just kibble
  - The time it takes them to eat their food
  - The amount of food they are receiving every day
11. What is the control?
- The different types of food
  - The food with just kibble
  - The time it takes them to eat their food
  - The amount of food they are receiving every day
12. Which is not a constant?
- The time it takes them to eat the food
  - The location where they are eating
  - The time of day they eat
  - The amount of food

Hocking, 2012-12-06 This text of applied chemistry considers the interface between chemistry and chemical engineering using examples of some of the important process in dustries Integrated with this is detailed consideration of measures which may be taken for avoidance or control of potential emissions This new emphasis in applied chemistry has been developed through eight years of experience gained from working in industry in research development and environment al control fields plus twelve years of teaching here using this approach It is aimed primarily towards science and engineering students as well as to envi ronmentalists and practising professionals with responsibilities or an interest in this interface By providing the appropriate process information back to back with emis sions and control data the potential for process fine tuning is improved for both raw material efficiency and emission control objectives This approach also emphasizes integral process changes rather than add on units for emis sion control Add on units have their place when rapid action on an urgent emission problem is required or when control simply is not feasible by pro cess integral changes alone Obviously fundamental process changes for emission containment are best conceived at the design stage However at whatever stage process modifications are installed this approach to control should appeal to the industrialist in particular in that something more sub stantial than decreased emissions may be gained     Holt Science & Technology

Shapiro-Ilan, Paul W. Sternberg, 2022-05-16 Nematodes are small multicellular organisms that have been used as biological models since the 1960s For example Caenorhabditis elegans is a free living nematode worm about 1mm in length that lives in temperate soil environments It is made up of about 1000 cells and has a short life cycle of only two weeks It was the first multicellular organism to have its whole genome sequenced The book summarizes the importance of nematodes as model organisms in the fields of genetics developmental biology neurobiology pharmacology nutrition ecology and parasitology Of interest to a broad audience across a wide spectrum of disciplines this book is useful for biologists working on comparative studies to investigate biological processes across organisms medical scientists and pharmacologists for exploration of drugs and medicine including the use of genome editing to eliminate diseases ecologists considering nematodes as indicators for environment changes and parasitologists for host parasite interactions Many other researchers can use this book as a benchmark for the broad implications of nematology research on other aspects of science
