1990s and 2000s, the number of people who have been affected by the disease has increased significantly. This is due to a number of factors, including the fact that the disease is now more common in many parts of the world, and the fact that the disease is now more likely to be diagnosed in people who are older and have more health problems. This means that the disease is now more likely to be fatal, and the number of people who have died from the disease has increased significantly. This is a serious problem, and it is important that we take steps to prevent the disease from spreading further.
