Monopoly of Force: The Nexus of DDR and SSR Michael Miklaucic, 2011 Disarmament Demobilization and Reintegration DDR and Security Sector Reform SSR have emerged in recent years as promising though generally poorly understood mechanisms for consolidating stability and reasserting state sovereignty after conflict Despite the considerable experience acquired by the international community the critical interrelationship between DDR and SSR and the ability to use these mechanisms with consistent success remain less than optimally developed The chapters in this book reflect a diversity of field experience and research in DDR and SSR which suggest that these are complex and interrelated systems with underlying political attributes Successful application of DDR and SSR requires the setting aside of preconceived assumptions or formulas and should be viewed flexibly to restore to the state the monopoly of force

National Implementation of United Nations Sanctions Vera Gowlland-Debbas, Djacoba Liva Tehindrazanarivelo, 2004 This work is a comparative study of domestic implementation of Security Council mandatory sanctions taken under Article 41 Chapter VII of the UN Charter including the establishment of the two international criminal tribunals the ICTY and ICTR and recent resolutions on the combating of the financing of terrorism The book examines implementation in 16 select States in Europe America Asia the Middle East and Africa underlining also the particular problems arising from sanctions implementation by the European Union by a permanently neutral and former non Member State Switzerland and by States confronted with special economic problems within the meaning of Article 50 of the UN

Charter Three interrelated themes are addressed The first of a theoretical nature concerns the question of whether implementation of Security Council resolutions particularly where perceived to be in fulfilment of community objectives poses problems which are in some way distinct from those raised by the implementation of other conventional international law obligations thereby shedding a different light on the traditional relationship between international and municipal law The second concerns the effectiveness of the decisions of the Security Council viewed from the perspective of the effective mise en oeuvre of these decisions in national law The third theme concerns the legitimacy of Security Council resolutions as seen from the viewpoint of domestic legal systems that is the extent to which Security Council decisions encroach on internationally or constitutionally protected individual rights and the potential role played by domestic courts in reviewing the decisions of the Security Council The latter has assumed particular importance in the framework of the combating of the financing of terrorism This work which brings together the research results of 29 academics and experts is the second publication within the framework of a project on Security Council sanctions carried out under the auspices of the Graduate Institute of International Studies The first which looked at a broad set of issues was entitled United Nations Sanctions and International Law and was published by Kluwer Law International in 2001

Unfinished Business: Democracy in Namibia M.

Sims, Monica Koep, 2012-04-24 Idasas Democracy Index initially developed for South Africa is being expanded into Southern Africa in an effort to broaden the capacity of individuals and organisations monitoring and supporting democratic governance efforts in the region This inaugural Democracy Index for Namibia is intended to set a benchmark for democracy to be measured against The tool assesses the countrys depth of democracy through five focus areas participation elections accountability political rights and human dignity The research relies on expert analysis to answer a set of questions that interrogate how closely in practice democracy meets the broad ideal of self representative government More specifically to what extent can citizens control elected officials and government appointees who make decisions about public affairs And how equal are citizens to one another in this accountability process The purpose of the scores is to assist citizens in making their own judgements based on the information made available to stimulate national debate and to provide democracy promoters with a tool for identifying issues and needs that can be addressed by education advocacy training institution building and policy revision

Ruling Nature, Controlling People Luregn Lenggenhager, 2018-09-17 Recent nature

conservation initiatives in Southern Africa such as communal conservancies and peace parks are often embedded in narratives of economic development and ecological research. They are also increasingly marked by militarisation and violence. In Ruling Nature: Controlling People, Land, and Resources in Southern Africa, Luregn Lenggenhager shows that these features were also characteristic of South African rule over the Caprivi Strip region in North Eastern Namibia, especially in the fields of forestry, fisheries, and ultimately wildlife conservation. In the process, the increasingly internationalised war in the region from the late 1960s until Namibia's independence in 1990 became intricately interlinked with contemporary nature conservation, ecology, and economic development projects. By retracing such interdependencies, Lenggenhager provides a novel perspective from which to examine the history of a region which has until now barely entered the focus of historical research. He thereby highlights the enduring relevance of the supposedly peripheral Caprivi and its military, scientific, and environmental histories for efforts to develop a deeper understanding of the ways in which apartheid South Africa exerted state power. Region-Building in Southern Africa, Chris Saunders, Gwinyayi Albert Dzinesa, Dawn Nagar, 2013-07-04. How successful have Southern African states been in dealing with the major issues that have faced the region in recent years? What could be done to produce more cohesive and effective region building in Southern Africa? In this original and wide-ranging volume, which draws on an interdisciplinary team of mainly African and African-based specialists, the key political, socio-economic, and security challenges facing Southern Africa today are addressed. These include the various issues confronting the Southern African Development Community (SADC) and its institutions, such as HIV/AIDS, migration, and xenophobia, land grabbing, and climate change, and the role of the main external actors involved with the region, including the United Nations, the European Union, the United States, and China. The book also looks at the Southern African Customs Union and Southern African Development Finance Institutions, including the Development Bank of Southern Africa and Industrial Development Corporation, and issues of gender and peacebuilding. In doing so, the book goes to the heart of analyzing the effectiveness of SADC and other regional organisations, suggesting how region building in Southern Africa may be compared with similar attempts elsewhere in Africa and other parts of the world. SADC Gender Protocol 2013 Barometer, 2013-09-25. In August 2008, Heads of State of the Southern African Development Community adopted the ground-breaking SADC Protocol on Gender and Development. This followed a concerted campaign by NGOs under the umbrella of the Southern Africa Gender Protocol Alliance. By the 2013 Heads of State summit, 13 countries had signed and 12 countries had ratified the SADC Gender Protocol. The Protocol is now in force. With two years to go, time is ticking to 2015, when governments need to have achieved 28 targets for the attainment of gender equality. In keeping with the Alliance slogan 'Yes we must', this 2013 Barometer provides a wealth of updated data against which progress will be measured by all those who cherish democracy in the region. The SADC Gender and Development Index (SGDI), introduced in 2011, complements the Citizen Score Card (CSC) that has been running for five years to benchmark progress. Military Integration during War-to-Peace Transitions, Lesley Anne Warner, 2023-06-07. In the 1960s only 10% of peace agreements included some element of political military accommodation namely military integration. From Burundi to Bosnia to Zimbabwe that number had increased to over 50% by the 2000s. However, relatively little is understood about this dimension of power sharing often utilized during war to peace transitions. Through an examination of the case of South Sudan between 2006 and 2013, this book explores why countries undergoing transitions from war to peace decide to integrate armed groups into a statutory security framework. This book details how integration contributed to short-term stability in South Sudan, allowing the government to overcome wartime factionalism and consolidate political military power prior to the referendum on self-determination in 2011. It also examines how the integration process in South Sudan was flawed by its open-ended nature and lack of coordination with efforts to right-size the military and transform the broader defense sector and how this led the military to fragment during periods of heightened political competition. Furthermore, the book explains why integration ultimately failed in South Sudan and identifies the wider lessons that could be applied to current or future war to peace transitions. This book will be of great interest to students of war and conflict studies, peacebuilding, post-conflict reconstruction, African security issues, and International Relations in general, as well as to practitioners.
