Don't Send Him in Tomorrow Jarlath O'Brien,2016-08-04 In Don t Send Him in Tomorrow Jarlath O'Brien shines a light on the marginalised disenfranchised and forgotten children of today s schools The percentage of children achieving the government s expected standard in benchmark tests is national news every year The progress that children with learning difficulties and SEN make is never discussed because it is not understood That is a problem The bone crushing infrastructure which professionals have to negotiate is a problem The fact that so many parents have to fight tooth and nail so that the needs of their children are met something the rest of us would consider a basic entitlement is a problem This book describes how the system can be improved if and when these marginalised children are given higher priority by the powers that be There is a widespread lack of understanding about special schools the work they do and the children they educate the sector is largely invisible Jarlath O'Brien has become increasingly frustrated by this and the varying quality of provision for children with learning difficulties and SEN in mainstream schools The successes of special schools and pupil referral units in Ofsted inspections are just not celebrated or analysed in the same way that mainstream schools are While mainstream schools have their hands tied by fears over progress measures There is a human cost to the accountability culture that reduces schooling to data and judgements this is felt most profoundly by children with SEN and their families Jarlath shares some of the problems he s witnessed with inclusion and exclusion mainstream schools actively encouraging children with SEN to look elsewhere parents reporting their children have been formally or informally excluded from school and socially excluded by the parents of other children children asked to leave their mainstream schools because of their behaviour usually behaviour that is caused by their needs not being adequately addressed children who are in school but isolated from their peers If a child can t participate in activities or trips with the rest of the class or spends much of the day working one to one with a teaching assistant is this really inclusion The Pupil Premium has been established to ensure that children in receipt of free school meals are not disadvantaged why does something similar not exist for children with SEN Every health and wealth indicator that you could use to measure people with learning difficulties and special educational needs SEN reveals something alarming They die younger They work less They are more likely to live in poverty or end up in prison or face mental health difficulties They are much more likely to be excluded from school They are more likely to be bullied at school This has to end We all have to choose to commit to recognising that society as it is today is a difficult place for young people to thrive When you have autism or Down syndrome or any physical or learning difference it s even harder and the system as it stands isn t helping We need to acknowledge that this is not right that such a state of affairs must change and that we all have a part to play in making that change happen Jarlath offers suggestions for politicians Ofsted local authorities head teachers SENCOs teachers and teaching assistants about what they can do to make a difference For all politicians head teachers SENCOs teachers and parents Commonwealth Universities Yearbook ,1994 Writing and Power Candace Mitchell,2015-12-03 This book offers a much needed alternative to the more traditional texts used to teach writing instruction Grounded in history the book clarifies changing theoretical and practical approaches to teaching writing critically assessing each approach in relation to the social and political movements of the day both within and beyond the university The author takes us inside the real world of writing instruction not only from the viewpoint of instructor but as seen through the eyes of students struggling to make sense of the expectations of writing class Mitchell emphasizes that writing entails far more than putting words to paper and delves into contextually variable culturally defined expectations that include multiple linguistic forms both oral and written highlighting the complexity of writing s while engaging the reader in lively academic debates about language and society Changing Perspectives Resource Manual ,1997 Policy, Belief and Practice in the Secondary English Classroom Bethan Marshall,Simon Gibbons,Louise Hayward,Ernest Spencer,2018-11-01 Studies of comparative classroom practice in the teaching of secondary English are limited especially when it comes to exploration of the day to day practice of English teachers in the secondary classroom This book presents a case study analysis of secondary classroom practice in three countries Canada England and Scotland Each country has had different degrees of state involvement within the secondary English curriculum over the last twenty years England has had the highest degree of state involvement in that it has had several statutory national curricula and a variety of assessment regimes Scotland has had a non statutory curriculum and no national tests and Canada has had no national curriculum at all with education being determined at province level and each province varying its policies The research adopts a case study approach involving both classroom observation and interviews with teachers Through this the authors explore the impact of state involvement on the reality of what happens in secondary English classrooms The book invites readers to consider the applicability of the findings to their own contexts to examine their own practice in the light of this and to consider the nature of the relationships between policy personal belief and practice in the teaching of English The Guardian Index ,1993
