

ANSWERS AND EXPLANATIONS

Each time a person enters the room, the computer generates a number and then randomly selects a name from the names placed in bowls for each group. The name that is called reads the problem, and that person then solves the problem. A new problem is then presented and the person that has read that problem randomly selects the person to read the next problem.

After the 10 problems are all completed, each is read again. The group that read the problem receives the average number of seconds it took to solve that problem. The person spending the least amount of time receives a reward, and the person spending the most time receives a punishment.

The teacher takes 1 minute per problem, spends 10 minutes each group and 10 minutes each time the student has time, reading the next problem, and then reads the solutions. The student spending the least amount of time receives a reward, and the student spending the most time receives a punishment. The teacher reads the solutions through the problems.

web dec 24 2019 summary the dialectic of enlightenment is worth reading because and not despite the seeming absurdity of its central claim the history of humanity is one of regress rather than progress furthermore the culprit for this regress is the pride of modernity our increased ability to control and manipulate the external world
